

Settlement near

National Steel, United Steelworkers agreement close

National Steel Corp. and the United Steelworkers yesterday reached a tentative three-year settlement.

The innovative three-year agreement focuses on employment security and productivity improvements which are expected to result in work force reductions through attrition. The agreement was reached in Pittsburgh.

IT PROVIDES for greater flexibility to deal with local issues on a plant-by-plant basis, cooperative partnerships in problem-solving and grievance procedures, improved communication, and union input in the decision-making process.

Labor costs for the company will be reduced by $1.50 an hour. However, employees will face wage and benefit reductions of only $1 per hour, with the difference coming from tax and other savings resulting from the new contract.

Employees will have the opportunity to recoup wage and benefit reductions through profit-sharing and gain-sharing opportunities.

BUDDY W. DAVIS led the union's bargaining team, which included Jim Kelahan of Granite City and others from this area.

Stanley C. Ellspermann, vice president of human resources and National's chief negotiator, called the package "a new direction in labor-management relations." "This agreement offers an opportunity for a true cooperative partnership, one that will give everybody from the shop floor to the executive offices a chance to directly affect the future of National Steel. It gives everyone input in the direction of the company and a share in the rewards from success."

THE TENTATIVE PACT calls for increasing productivity by reducing the cost per ton of steel produced. Increases in productivity will be achieved through work force reductions spread across both level management to in-plant work group teams.

The new agreement incorporates the understanding that participation is now expected at all levels.

The tentative settlement calls for a reduction in labor costs of $1.50 an hour. Employees will have a chance to recoup or exceed their wage and benefit sacrifices through a profit-sharing and gain-sharing program tied to product quality, productivity and company profitability.

OTHER KEY POINTS in the settlement include a reaffirmation by National Steel to participate in the United Steelworkers' Steel Crisis Action Program and political/community action programs; an improved grievance and arbitration system that includes grassroots training and a more streamlined grievance procedure; a commitment by both parties to a comprehensive safety/health program; and flexibility to experiment with innovative approaches in job responsibilities, teamwork concepts and pay levels that are based on knowledge and degree of skill.

"We like to think of this as a 'new beginning' in labor/management relations at National Steel," said Ellspermann.

"It is an opportunity for both sides to demonstrate to the outside world that labor and management can work together to improve productivity, build job security and provide a company in a beleaguered industry a chance to survive and prosper."

THE AGREEMENT now needs to be ratified by the union's full

Productivity improvements will also come from increased training programs, a reduction of any excessive overtime, a commitment to changes in work rule practices that provide additional flexibility, the combining of certain job classifications, more responsibility for self-direction by union crew coordinators, and the elimination of some restrictive work rule practices.

In return for productivity improvements, National will provide an employment security package that will guarantee there will be no layoffs, even if an employee's job is eliminated.

In that case, an employee security pool will provide a job for the displaced worker.

A COOPERATIVE partnership agreement has also been built into the contract. It includes joint problem-solving teams at four levels in the company — from top-

Building will keep its name

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Township Hall will keep that name, as least for a year, it was decided Tuesday night.

A crowd of more than 400 people at the annual township meeting declared the name of the building should remain the same until Township Attorney William Schooley can check into the legal feasibility of renaming the building. He is to give his findings at next year's meeting.

ONE NAME, suggested by Alex Toth of Granite City, was "Soldiers and Sailors Memorial." He read a provision from Guide and Duties of Township Officials which said community buildings can be dedicated as memorials to veterans.

"I think we should dedicate the town hall to the soldiers and sailors in our community," said Toth, a World War II veteran.

However, Schooley said the provision Toth read applied if the hall was built pursuant to a referendum. He said the township building was constructed with revenue sharing funds.

"I think it is a great idea to name this for the veterans," said Gertrude Barkley. "Why not bend the rules a little and name it for our veterans."

"I WANT to apologize to the veterans of this area," Toth said as he withdrew his motion when it

Money for seniors, youth

GRANITE CITY — Funds for senior citizens and youth were approved Tuesday night at the annual township meeting.

An amount of $20,000 for services and facilities for senior citizens was approved for fiscal 1987. The money will come from the revenue sharing fund. Though approved, questions were raised about how the funds would be used.

One senior asked Township Supervisor Nelson Hagauer why the money was not being used for a bus to provide transportation for seniors to and from events held at the Township Hall.

"The seniors do not have a bus because the township insurance does not cover it," Hagauer replied.

Also approved was a request by Robert Bell, adult vice-chairman of the Granite City Council For Youth. He asked that $4,000 not spent in fiscal 1986 be added to the $5,000 budgeted for fiscal 1987 for the youth council.

Several council members were present to support Bell's request.

"We have established a goal to get something done for the youth in Granite City," he said.

appeared it was out-of-order.

Another suggestion was to name the building after Township Supervisor Nellie Hagauer and his wife, Bernice.

"Without his efforts and indulgence this building wouldn't be here," said Trustee Sam Whittier, who moderated the meeting. "I think personally it should be called the Hagauer building."

"I think it would be such a tribute to Nellie and Bernice," said Kelly Hodges, a retired Granite City policeman. "They put in 10, 12, 14 hours a day, six days a week; totally unselfish."

Though Hagauer and his wife said they were flattered by the suggestions, they both said the building should continue to be called Township Hall.

"I am happy I could play a part," Hagauer said, "but it should stay Granite City township building."

"With all respect to all the residents of the town, this should remain Township Hall," Mrs. Hagauer said.

Pontoon Beach gets insurance coverage

PONTOON BEACH — After searching since last fall for insurance coverage, Pontoon Beach Village President Glen Wilson and the Board of Trustees on Tuesday accepted a policy on both the Village Hall and the Senior Citizens Building.

The policy, submitted by the Zimmerman Agency through National Ben Franklin Insurance of Illinois, provides liability coverage of $90,000 on each building and $20,000 for the contents.

"We've been working on securing insurance since October and it has almost been an impossible task," said Wilson. "Insurance has been a problem for so many communities that it has really become a problem out of reason." Premiums for the coverage will annually total $1,900.

Village board members are awaiting information concerning insurance coverage for the village's police cars that Wilson hopes will come soon.

A letter has been sent to Gene Childers, director of customer service, U.S. Postal Service, Carbonate, by U.S. Sen. Paul Simon. Simon has indicated his support of Pontoon Beach's request to secure a post office and a zip code. He wrote on behalf of the village to Childers, through whose office such requests are forwarded to the U.S. Postal Service headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Village officials hope for a prompt response from Childers.

All lanes closed

AN OVERTURNED flatbed truck closed all four lanes in the 1900 block of McCambridge Avenue between about 6 a.m. and 8 a.m. today, causing motorists to be diverted during the morning rush hour. Jeff Baldwin, 27, Carlyle, said he was hauling a load of coke when the back trailer wheels on the driver's side of his Mack truck seemed to lock. The truck overturned in front of the Sunboco station at the McCambridge curve, spilling the load of coke. Baldwin, who was driving a Beelman Truck Co. truck, said he was not injured. (Staff photo by J.C. Ventimiglia)

NAMEOKI — As a result of anticipated cuts in federal revenue sharing funds, Nameoki Township residents will have to find other ways to dispose of tree limbs.

"Unless revenue sharing is renewed, we will only pick up household items when we make our monthly pickups from November through April," said Township Highway Commissioner Lee Adams.

At the annual town meeting held Tuesday, Nameoki residents voted to transfer $12,000 from revenue sharing to environmental cleanup. The funding would cover only the

Dance to aid Adlai Friday

Madison County Democrats will gather for Adlai Stevenson at a fund-raising dance at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Bethalto Friday, April 11, at 7:30 p.m. Stevenson will attend.

"It's more important now than ever before to show our support for Stevenson," said Mac Warfield, Madison County Democratic chairman. "We have to beat Gov. Jim Thompson and turn back the forces of Lyndon LaRouche."

Warfield said Stevenson's actions since the March 18 primary "show he has the strength and leadership we need in our governor. He immediately repudiated the LaRouche candidates and united Democrats all over the state behind his candidacy. That's the kind of decisive action we need to get Illinois moving again."

Tickets are $25 and are available at the door or by calling Warfield at 877-3540.

"Stevenson has visited our area several times already in his campaign and has shown a sensitivity to our needs and our ideas that we haven't seen from the incumbent governor," said Warfield.

"We need his help and he needs ours. Madison County knows that it's time for a change. This is a chance for Democrats, and Republicans, in Madison County to come together in support of Adlai Stevenson."

Labor will honor Walsh

The Illinois State AFL-CIO Legislative and COPE (Committee On Political Education) director, Richard Walsh, will be honored at a testimonial dinner at the Collinsville Hilton Saturday, April 12.

Charles Mohr, president of the Alton-Wood River Area Federation of Labor, and Dean Turner, secretary-treasurer of the Southwestern Illinois Building and Construction Trades Council, are co-chairmen of the dinner.

Walsh is the Illinois AFL-CIO's chief lobbyist and works directly for state AFL-CIO President Bob Gibson.

Buddy W. Davis, director of District 34 of the United Steelworkers of America and an Illinois AFL-CIO vice president, will serve as master of ceremonies. The list of guest speakers will include Gibson, State Senators Vince Demuzio and Sam Vadalebene and State Representatives Sam Wolf and Jim McPike.

Tickets for the dinner are $25 in advance. For more information and for reservations, area residents may call Art Fowler at 1-259-8575.

MEDICAL TECHNICIAN in hematology, Jane Reis counts white and red blood cells as part of a CBC (complete blood count).

Labs stress reliability

By Deborah Williams

An often-hidden segment of the health care profession will be recognized throughout the U.S. during National Medical Laboratory Week April 13-19. This year's theme, Stellar Performers You Can Count On, links the return of Halley's Comet with the reliability of laboratory professionals.

Medical lab professionals comprise the health care community's third largest segment behind doctors and nurses, said Lori Stanzell, laboratory manager of St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

"For years, we've been a somewhat invisible profession," she said, "and yet these dedicated professionals make a substantial contribution to quality health care by providing dependable laboratory test results essential to the detection, diagnosis, treatment and prevention of disease."

The SEMC lab, one of the larger departments within the medical center, has 64 full-time equivalent and 18 part-time staff members, working in a variety of specialized areas including microbiology, hematology, blood bank, automated chemistry, special chemistry, pathology, histology, cytology, parasites (collection and dispatch) and clerical.

"Most of what we do is fairly routine," said Sandy Ashcraft, a medical technologist in hematology. "But occasionally, we will have a patient who is abnormal, and it's our responsibility to bring that to the attention of the nurses, the floor, and the physician so that something immediate can be done for this person."

"I think the work of the laboratory is basically unknown to a lot of people," she said. "I would like to see the public become more aware of the career possibilities here. It's a good field for women."

"I always wanted to be in the medical field," said Gina Robinson, a paratechnician. "I didn't want to be a nurse, and thought this would be the best career choice."

Today, most technical positions in the laboratory require a two-year associate degree in applied science or a four-year degree from an accredited college, plus various certifications and/or registries.

"It's really kind of a new field as far as institutions of higher education are concerned," said Karen George, a medical technologist. "There are a lot of certifying agencies, but the government plans to eventually standardize it to where there will be one type of certification."

"It's difficult to tell people exactly what we do," said Sandy Ashcraft, "because it's not like any other job. People think we work with a lot of test tubes and Bunsen burners, and we don't." "We use a variety of techniques in the laboratory," Lori Stanzell said, "from testing blood samples to the operation of sophisticated, computerized instruments."

Special ed pupils get snowed

GRANITE CITY — Wilson School special education students in classes of Victoria Boyd and Diane Morthland participated in "Operation Snowflake" on March 22.

Sharon Tighe of Plaza Health Care Center led activities to make students aware of drug abuse and the importance of building a positive self-concept. During the program, students viewed films, listened to stories, and participated in discussions and activities.

Each was given a comic book, bookmark and buttons which promoted "Operation Snowflake." A highlight was participating in giving hugs to classmates and teachers.

Portell defendant in Urban federal lawsuit

Madison County Circuit Clerk Willard V. Portell has been added as a defendant in a lawsuit filed by the county in federal court in an effort to recover money fraudulently obtained from the county by Ben S. Urban, a Collinsville lawyer. The county had sued First National Bank of St. Louis (now "Centerville Bank") in 1984, alleging "checks drawn upon Madison County accounts and bearing forged endorsements were honored by the bank and deposited into accounts held by Urban under the names Gateway Truckers Aid and Midwest Truckers Aid."

The county seeks $200,000 in damages from the bank for accepting the forged checks. A new count, filed last week by Assistant State's Attorney Robert D. Larson, seeks $300,000 in damages from Portell. It alleges Portell or his employees issued checks for bond refunds based on forged and fraudulent court orders and dismissals.

The complaint alleges Portell or his employees negligently failed to detect the fraudulent nature of the court orders, failed to detect forged endorsements of misdemeanor defendants, failed to establish the identity and nature of the co-payees Midwest Truckers Aid and Gateway Truckers Aid, and failed to direct the State Bank of Collinsville not to honor the checks.

Portell said he did not blame his employees for accepting the counterfeit documents presented by Urban.

"It's my job to try to recover some of the money that Urban diverted," Larson said. "In no way do I claim that either Portell or his employees did anything criminal or morally wrong." He added, however, that someone in the office should have detected Urban's scheme.

Larson said Portell and his staff are protected by surety bonds which would apply to a judgment. Urban, once Collinsville city attorney, pleaded guilty in 1982 to four counts of felony theft and later was sentenced to three years in prison. Urban pleaded guilty to illegally obtaining at least $147,000 in county funds.

Prosecutors said Urban obtained bond money posted by truckers charged with weight violations. They said he posed as attorney for various truckers and presented forged dismissal orders to obtain bond money posted by truckers and held by the circuit clerk's office.

Urban repeated the scheme at least 178 times between 1978 and 1982, prosecutors said. The scheme went unnoticed for so long because truckers routinely forfeited bonds rather than challenging alleged violations in court. Truckers were unaware of Urban's activities, according to prosecutors.

Then-Associate Judge John W. Day, who sentenced Urban, also ordered him to repay about $147,000 to Madison County. A lawsuit filed by the county against Urban in 1983 is pending in Circuit Court. That suit asks for damages of $129,309 and costs.

Larson said he believes the county lost up to $300,000 but did not explain the total. He said any restitution made by Urban would decrease the amount the county seeks to recover elsewhere. Urban apparently has made no restitution, officials said.

MESD studies project

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Engineers Wednesday began fact finding for a proposed $2.3 million ditch renovation project between State Aid 35 and Interstate 270.

Plans call for improvement of the width and depth inside a 5-mile length of ditch estimated to be 40 years old.

Known as the Madison ditch, parts of the channel have been reduced to 12 feet in width. The ditch was originally 20 feet wide, according to engineering studies discussed at a Metro East Sanitary District commissioners' meeting.

Funding for three quarters of the project has been approved in the form of a Build Illinois grant. MESD will pick up the rest of the tab. A 1.7-mile portion of the project belongs to Madison County.

Commissioners discussed methods of disposing of the dirt dredged from the bottom of the ditch. Hauling the dirt is expected to be the most expensive part of the project.

Engineers proposed selling the dirt to area farmers. Greathouse proposed piling the dirt along the levee bank to reinforce the structures.

Grant funds do not include improvements south of SA 35 along a three-mile stretch that connects the ditch with a network of drainage ditches in the area. Engineers suggested renovating that portion of the ditch as soon as funds can be located for the job. "We don't want to just move the water 5 miles down the road," Greathouse said. "The main problem in this district is we end up with everybody's water — even those who aren't paying us."

Because MESD has no easement rights north of Illinois 302, the district will need the permission of area land owners to work on their property.

A committee made up of several farmers affected by the project has been formed to contact other land owners and request permission to work on their property.

Project engineers suggested contracting the work, rather than using MESD employees, since most of the financing is through a state grant.

Commissioners voted unanimously to approve a resolution affirming the district's ability to pay 25 percent of the cost of the project and filing it with Build Illinois officials.

3 of 4 not too bad?

Three of the four persons recommended for principalships were accepted by the Granite City School Board Saturday. A substitute by the board replaced the fourth person.

This leads to a question of morale in the district. We understand the one recommended person who was not chosen by the board was as qualified as the person who was chosen. From a morale standpoint, with all things being about equal among job candidates, it seems the board would have done best to select the recommendation and show teachers and administrators the board cares for the input. But the board selected someone else.

You can cover it over with noble-sounding rhetoric, but it's still a slap in the face to the administrators and teachers who worked on the recommendation committee.

Adding insult to injury is the disregard for the public displayed in the timing of the "public" vote for the new principals.

Good for you, John Q. Public

The more than 400 persons who attended the annual Granite City Township meeting deserve credit. All but a handful of persons at the meeting were clearly in support of Supervisor Nellie Hagnauer and his form of township leadership, but they tolerantly sat through contrary comments made by the relatively meager opposition.

Our worst fears were allayed. With such a large crowd supporting the township supervisor in a room containing a few vocal opponents, the scene was set for a rather nasty contest, complete with name-calling and booing. But there was no name-calling, and booing was quickly quelled.

The people of Granite City treated those with opposing views with restraint worthy of recognition and our commendations are thusly accorded.

Recognition is also due to the meeting's

Despite meetings attended by the public that have lasted long into the night, despite the obvious public concern about these positions, the board voted on Saturday to make its appointments.

The only member of the public present was the Press-Record/Journal. We venture to say no other members of the public were there because they didn't believe the vote would take place Saturday. They likely thought the board would make the announcement at a regular meeting.

After all, there was no rush to make the appointments. The process had dragged on for months. A couple of more days wouldn't have hurt anything. It might have helped avoid the "whisper campaign" that we hear has been going on. Waiting would have been a service to the public.

But that's assuming public service is what the school board is all about.

moderator, Alderman Sam Whitmer. He kept the meeting moving along at a fast pace, but made absolutely sure that anyone who had something to say was given the right to say it.

Something can be said for those who questioned township activities, too. Alderman Woody Moad and senior activist John Petish have reservations about some of the things they see in the township. It took courage to stand in front of a very large and unsympathetic group to voice concerns, but they did. They received a cool reception, calmly stated their claims, and sat down.

The crowd could have taken advantage of its size and browbeaten the minority, but both sides came together with very little friction.

From our perspective, that's democracy functioning as it should.

SIUE a treasure to be guarded

Numerous home owners had to, or decided to, give up their property when the state came to Madison County in the 1950s and established the beautiful, rolling, wooded campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. It was a sacrifice for them, but it was of our benefit from what was created.

While greater use of some of the 2,850 acres might make sense, we question an auditing firm's recommendation that more than 2,700 acres be sold.

The finding by Alexander Grant & Company for the Illinois Auditor General will be forwarded to the Illinois Legislative Audit Commission for consideration when appropriations are being enacted.

SIUE President Earl Lazerson said, "I feel the impulse that led to the original acquisition of land was a very good one. The land is a definite asset to the university."

Acting SIU Chancellor James Brown added that consolidating facilities on a 150-acre core would be awkward and costly. Opposing over-reaction to any temporary state financial squeeze, he noted, "Almost since the beginning of the campus, we've had this idea appear."

Operations outside the nucleus of instructional and administrative buildings and the surrounding parking area include the university police, the chancellor's office, the rape and sexual abuse care center, athletic and recreation fields, the Mississippi River Festival concert area, student housing, support facilities, and the Tower Lake aquatic recreation area. Plans also are in the works to create an industrial research park.

Although an SIUE spokesman estimated that at least half the campus is in regular use, the Grant firm noted that about 470 acres are rented out to farmers and produce only "nominal revenue." It added that "good business practice would require disposing of excessive land holdings to realize an immediate cash in-flow and to reduce future maintenance costs."

The university responded, "Our land holdings are deemed a valuable resource for the state of Illinois, enabling us to adequately plan for future expansion of academic, research and public service functions. Available land enables the creation of projects such as University Park that benefit economic and community development." That state has just provided $1 million in funding for the proposed 200-acre research center, situated on the eastern part of the campus near Illinois 157.

President Lazerson said a revised plan for land use soon will be completed for the university's physical plant. He opposes land sales, and points out that much of the site, when donated to the state, had deeds that prohibited its sale by SIU.

Although university enrollments in general are decreasing and are likely to continue to do so for a number of years, it would seem the path of wisdom to look to long-range rather than short-term prospects. Trends easily could reverse themselves over the next generation, but once eliminated the spacious campus could never be restored.

Many universities would give their "eye teeth" to have room to grow, not to mention a setting that adds much aesthetically to any gathering or venture on SIUE's jewel-like grounds.

Madison County's only university has been a tremendous boon, academically and otherwise. It ought to be allowed to continue, intact.

Society still plagued by outlaws

Quad-City Area residents had enough experience with inroads by organized crime several decades ago to learn that constant vigilance is required to keep it out of Madison County.

Even though federal prosecutors have done a good job in the 1980s in imprisoning leading St. Louis mob figures, the President's Commission on Organized Crime warned this month that states need to step up their activities.

In its final report, the 19-member commission said use of state law enforcement tools, including electronic surveillance and grand jury investigations, are essential if organized crime is to be curbed. It warned of the Mafia, outlaw motorcycle gangs and another growing threat, ethnic crime groups.

Special mention was made of the legal profession. Although trial defendants are entitled to defense attorneys, some lawyers go far beyond such duties to facilitate gangsters' operations, the commission contended.

The panel's 30-month study concluded, among other things, that organized crime will reap more than $100 billion in profits this year, costing Americans more than 400,000 jobs and reducing a typical person's income by $80. Proceeds from heroin, cocaine and marijuana will total $55 billion, not counting the devastated lives suffered by many drug victims.

Irving Kaufman, commission chairman, said, "The increasing sophistication and specialization in industry, and the growth of permissiveness reflected in increased use of illicit drugs, have contributed to the changing shape and enduring presence of organized crime."

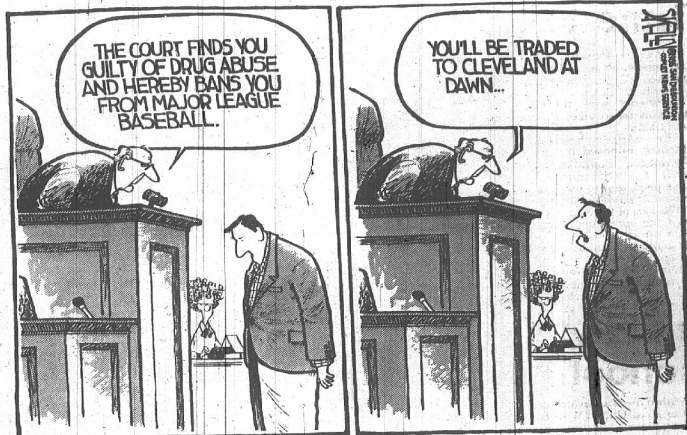

Each state is being urged to update its anti-gang methods, interest and intensity. And perhaps Uncle Sam will need to set up a new monitoring entity now that the presidential commission has gone out of existence.

Simon says cut the deficit right now

Guest editorial
By Sen. Paul Simon

Three-digit budget deficits are garish evidence of flawed fiscal policies.

But the real harm done by our massive federal deficits shows up in other figures: The alarming sums we now spend on interest to finance that debt.

It is painfully and acutely clear that Congress and the president need the discipline of a balanced budget amendment to the Constitution to make responsible fiscal policy the rule and not the exception.

For the first time in more than three years, and probably for the only time in the 99th Congress, the U.S. Senate will vote on a balanced budget amendment in the days ahead. Two Republican senators and a Democratic colleague have joined me in offering a simple, clear and direct balanced budget amendment that is a great improvement over earlier versions. I also found broad, bipartisan support for it in more than 140 town meetings last year across Illinois. Our amendment is not burdened with language tying federal income to a percentage of national

School board did job fairly, within law

To the editor:

The Board of Education has just completed two very important tasks that will potentially impact education in our community for the next 10 to 20 years. Those tasks were restructuring the administrative staff and the filling of the four elementary principal positions caused by retirements.

Unfortunately for the good image of our school district, these two tasks had to take place in the midst of public controversy about the proper role and relationship of the board and the superintendent of schools in managing our school district, and the accusations by one board member that the restructuring of administrative positions was being discussed in executive session in violation of the law.

There is another viewpoint on these issues other than what has been covered on the front page and in the editorial comment of the local newspaper. That viewpoint is held by a majority of the school board members, all of whom were balanced by the public to do the job we are trying to do.

Before addressing the specific issues of controversy, consider a couple of fundamental truths. We live in a democracy, thankfully. We, as a society, believe we are wise enough to govern ourselves.

We believe that no one has been appointed all wise and all knowing in matters pertaining to how we should be governed. Because of this fundamental truth, the men of wisdom (divinely inspired, I believe) who designed our form of government always included a system of checks and balances to protect us from those who might begin to believe they did know it all.

So we have at the national level, so we have at the state level, so we have at the local level, including our school district, a system of checks and balances.

The president of the school board is not all knowing. Nor is any other board member. Nor is the superintendent of schools. None of us should be treated as if we have all the answers.

What we do have is an intelligent, articulate, highly educated, strong-willed man as our superintendent of schools. What we have also are seven strong-willed, successful, highly motivated people serving on our Board of Education.

State law says the superintendent shall make recommendations. State law says the board in its majority will agree or disagree.

State law says the superintendent will carry out the board's decision. This is a system of checks and balances that has worked well for many years.

Keep in mind that a system of checks and balances will inevitably bring about controversy and disagreement.

Those who would suggest to the board that it abdicate its responsibility to go through the processes to check and verify the soundness of the superintendent's recommendations — do so from an autocratic point of view, usually with incomplete or inaccurate information.

Consider the specific question of whether the board should have discussed the administrative reorganization in closed session. Part of the recommendation by the superintendent was to establish two additional assistant principal positions.

Some board members might question whether these positions were necessary because of the performance of the principals who were to be assisted. I believe it very unfair to have a public employee to have a board member's perception of his or her performance open to public scrutiny.

State law agrees that such a discussion could be unfair and provides in the Open Meetings Act for public boards to discuss those kinds of items in executive session.

The majority of our board agreed that we could not fully discuss the administrative realignment without discussing the perceived performances of some of the existing administrative staff.

For that reason, we as a board chose to deliberate the recommendation in closed session.

Our school board attorney, one of the fine trial lawyers in the area, assured us that we were well within the intent and the actuality of the Open Meetings Act law.

The second item of public debate was whether the board should follow without question the recommendations of Dr. Redmond and the employee selection committee or whether the board should go through a more deliberative process to reach a decision point as to who the board should hire to fill these very important elementary principal positions.

In spite of rumors and other allegations, the board hired four out of the top five recommendations of the committee and clearly identified another top candidate for the next elementary principal opening.

The "bottom line" message is that the process worked and worked well in spite of the pressures of those who would try to subvert the election process and autocratically dictate to this publicly-elected board the decisions it should make.

I am proud of my fellow board members for their courage, their character, and their dedication to getting the job done correctly.

Time to pay delayed utility bills

Illinois Power Company customers who fell behind in payments during the winter months should now make arrangements with the utility to avoid loss of service, a spokesman said today.

The winter restraints on shutoffs, imposed by the Illinois Commerce Commission, ended April 1. "Disconnect notices" have been sent to most customers behind in payments.

The loss of service can be avoided if the customer makes a good faith effort to pay. However, arrangements must be made prior to losing service.

Illinois Power offers a deferred payment agreement to customers who have not broken such an agreement in the last 12 months. Customers who have broken a deferred payment agreement also should contact the utility to determine what arrangements can be made to avoid termination of service.

A deferred payment agreement usually requires payment of 25 percent of the amount in arrears, with the balance paid in equal monthly installments. Payment in full of future bills also must be maintained.

Low-income customers may be eligible for another special payment plan known as the Illinois Residential Affordable Payment Plan (IRAPP). This program allows customers to pay 12 percent of their monthly income for utility service during certain times of the year, regardless of the size of the bill.

Customers apply for IRAPP at their local energy assistance agency. The local Illinois Power customer service center can direct customers to the proper agency.

Throughout the 15,000 square miles served by Illinois Power, about 7,000 customers paid nothing during the winter months, when ICC rules restrict termination of service for non-payment.

Several thousand more customers are far enough behind in payments to be subject to service disconnection, the company said.

Old Scouts to meet in August

An "Old Scouter" is defined as a person registered in the scouting program, as an adult scouter for the last 10 consecutive years, or registered as an adult scouter prior to 1975. Old Scouts of the Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council are planning their 10th annual reunion for Aug. 23.

This year's reunion will be held at the Edwardsville Township Park, located on Center Grove Road southwest of Edwardsville. The park is between Illinois 157 and 158.

Program for the day will be: 9 a.m., registration, followed by fellowship; 12 noon, sack lunches; and 5 p.m., closing.

Scout memorabilia, patches and pictures will be shown during fellowship sessions. Coffee and iced tea will be furnished all day.

Games will include horseshoes and checkers, according to Floyd Jordan, 931-2897.

Preston Green cited as steel distributor of year

Preston M. Green, president of Southwest Steel Supply Co. Inc., St. Louis, has been named the 1986 Association of Steel Distributors (ASD) Steel Distributor of the Year. The company's two plants are in Madison and St. Louis.

"I am honored to receive this award," said Green, who was a two-term ASD president, serving from 1982 to 1984. "It's been fantastic to serve this association and I've been repaid tenfold."

The Steel Distributor of the Year award is given each year to an ASD member who has made an outstanding contribution to the association. The award was announced and presented in a special ceremony during the annual convention, held in March in Phoenix.

"He has given unselfishly of his time to this organization and to the industry," said ASD President Al Gomer. "He best exemplifies the spirit of a steel distributor. He has built his company into one of the most modern steel distribution facilities in the country."

Green's steel distributing career began in 1950 when he joined Southwest Steel Supply Co. as vice president of purchasing and production. In 1952, he began acquiring ing the company's stock and today he owns 100 percent stock.

A resident of St. Louis, he received his bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from Washington University, St. Louis, and he designs much of the equipment used in his company's plants.

The Association of Steel Distributors is a non-profit organization dedicated to strengthening the steel distribution industry.

National will sell steel service center

National Intergroup Inc. (NII) and J.B. Poindexter and Co. have entered into a binding letter of intent for the cash purchase by Poindexter of National Steel Service Center Inc. (NSSC) and related subsidiaries of NSSC. NII World Trade Inc., a subsidiary of NSSC, will be excluded from the transaction and will remain with NII.

NII said the sale of NSSC continues its strategy to redeploy assets into other distribution and service businesses. NII owns half of Granite City Steel.

Poindexter is a privately held, long-term equity investment partnership in New York City with significant capital resources. NSSC, a wholly owned subsidiary of NII, is a $300 million distributor of flat-rolled metal and building products.

A definitive acquisition agreement is anticipated within 45 days, with closing of the transaction expected in mid-June.

Renovation funds for area college

The state has released more than $2 million in Build Illinois bond funds for renovation projects at public community colleges throughout the state, including $63,900 for Belleville Area College.

The Build Illinois funding for various colleges will cover repair work, including planning, equipment, materials and service.

The projects are scheduled to begin this month and be completed by September.

80 find alternative school helps them

Within the framework of the Tri-Cities Area United Way, there are 15 agencies receiving financial support. As a result, the agencies are able to provide direct services to the people of Granite City, Madison, Venice, Pontoon Beach, Mitchell and some of the surrounding areas.

Co-Ordinated Youth Services, 976-2353, is one of the agencies. Under the direction of C.A. "Bud" MacMillan, CYS addresses the problems of area young people through a number of ways. In particular, it operates an Alternative Education Program, of which Mrs. Donna Daisy is project coordinator.

Alternative education is educational programming for students experiencing difficulty in school. The program serves the three area school districts, Granite City, Madison and Venice.

"The goal of the alternative school is to educate and return students to the public school system," according to Cindy Gavilsky, director of the school.

Junior high and high school aged students are referred by the public school systems. "These are students with problems of truancy, drugs, alcohol, pregnancy or various behavioral problems," Gavilsky said.

"The philosophy of alternative education is to meet individual learning needs of students by involving those students in planning of their academic program.

There is capacity for 100 students in the program, with a present enrollment of 80. The minimum qualifications are:

Age — Must have reached 17 years before May 1, 1986.

Education — Must be a high school graduate or possess a GED certificate or be a graduate of a vocational or technical school.

Transcript of school records will be required.

Residence — Must live within the jurisdiction of the District Council.

There are no restrictions as to race, creed, color or sex.

The jurisdiction of the council is all of Jersey, Calhoun, Madison and Bond counties and portions of Macoupin, Montgomery and Greene counties.

John Wroblek Sr. is president, Charles L. Muenstermann is secretary, treasurer and business manager and John "Jack" Boyle and Don Gerstenacker are board representatives.

"Our primary goal is not only to have the student return to his home school, but to help him or her make the transition into adult life and society. By doing so, we can also send the students into positions of employment and assist them in deciding on a career path."

A student commented, "I get more of the teachers' time and attention; they really listen to what I have to say."

Another student said, "I am motivated to go back to the main high school and graduate, because I've learned getting an education is important in trying to get a job."

The students receive credit hours as a result of completion of courses of study in the alternative school.

Interim financing move approved by authority

By Carol Patterson

Correspondent
A $3.5 million taxable line of credit for interim financing on revenue bonds for the 1986 development project was approved by the Tri-City Regional Port District board Monday.

"The $3.5 million is the amount of credit available. However, we are anticipating using only $2.6 million," said General Manager Robert Wydra.

The line of credit comes from the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago, and it covers the cost of the eight construction contracts involved in phase two of the Economic Development Administration's project at the port.

Port Engineer Jerry Lavelle reported that Lippold Construction withdrew its two low bids on contracts number two and eight due to the company's lack of experience in the area of road paving.

These two contracts, which involve paving and earth work to be done on the port's levee road and south dock access roadway, will now go to the C.D. Peters Co.

"It will result in it (the cost) being $34,000 higher," said Lavelle.

The Port District will purchase a used backhoe for $154,659 in order to more efficiently unload barges at the Canal Side Dock.

The hydraulic backhoe, an unload barges up to four times faster than the existing crane-operated equipment, according to officials.

PTA plans 'road block'

GRANITE CITY — Area PTAs will hold a "road block" Friday and Saturday, April 11 and 12, between 4 and 6 p.m. at Nameoki and Pehling roads.

The "road block" will raise funds to support a free public seminar on child abduction and abuse prevention programs.

Funds will be used to send a letter to each parent of elementary students announcing the seminar.

The seminar will be held in the high school auditorium Thursday, April 24, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. It will present guidelines on the "Safe Street" program.

"Safe Street" asks parents to display a "helping hand" sign in a window of their home. This sign will indicate safe homes that children can go to for help.

Guest speakers will be from the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Agency. He will present a program called "I-Search."

I-Search has several parts, from locating missing children and distribution of child identification packets, to teaching materials on child abduction and abuse prevention.

Richard Brinkhoff, administrative assistant for instruction in School District 9, has made arrangements to implement several aspects of I-Search in the schools.

Additionally, Brinkhoff has made arrangements for fingerprinting of students currently in kindergarten. Other students may be fingerprinted through a program that the Granite City Police Department is preparing for this May.

The PTA "Safe Street" committee is encouraging all parents with children under 15 years of age to attend the free seminar. All residents of Granite City are welcome to attend.

Anyone wishing to donate to this program may do so by making checks payable to the Granite City Area Council of PTAs, marked "Safe Street," and giving them to any Granite City elementary school office or the Granite City Board of Education office.

income — a serious flaw in an earlier version that now has been shelved by the Senate. Once enacted, our plan would take effect in five years, when Gramm-Rudman's expiring, and would require roll-call votes on tax increases.

The danger of our huge interest payments on the debt has been overstated. Consider these facts:

— This year the gross expenditure on interest will be $181 billion. That is $500 million each day. I can remember back to fiscal year 1962 when we had a total federal budget of $100 billion.

— Interest expenses have risen 240 percent since fiscal 1980, climbing to third place in the budget behind Social Security and defense. Economists predict interest will top the list in just a few years, doubling every four or five years after that and squeezing out our ability to respond to domestic needs, to defense needs, to our entire national agenda.

— The national debt stands today at $2 trillion, half of that added in the last four years alone.

— We have moved in three years from being the number one creditor nation to being the number one debtor nation. This year, 60 percent of the deficit is going to have to be purchased by people and groups outside the borders of the United States.

— To pay $181 billion for interest this year we are taking primarily from people of limited income and giving to those of substantial income, a government-sanctioned redistribution so immense that no feudal lord of the Middle Ages could have dreamed of anything like it.

We are also shifting our burden to future generations. When we have deficits of this size we are living on a giant credit card and sending the bill to our children and grandchildren. Our children will pay not only for the programs we did not want to pay for ourselves, but they will also have to pick up the interest tab. Spending half or two-thirds of the budget on interest for their parents' debts means we and our children will not have adequate resources for education, health care or defense or other needs.

One of the ironies of the present situation is that people who call themselves liberals have somehow been moved into a position of supporting huge deficits and a policy that will make it less and less likely that this government can respond to the real needs of our people and their future. I am sometimes tagged with the term, "liberal," but it certainly does not include supporting policies that rob hope from the future of our country.

And for people to oppose a constitutional amendment that stops a practice of redistributing wealth — taking from those least able and giving to those most wealthy — is totally inconsistent for those who call themselves liberal.

We can't continue these trends for long. You can argue the more could be better off one year from now through deficits of this size, but no one can argue that 10 years from now any of us are going to be better off.

Whatever your political party or philosophy, it does not make sense to spend an increasing share of our tax dollars on interest rather than on goods and services.

We need a constitutional amendment that would prevent us from wading, year-by-year, into the kind of fiscal thickets that has brought us triple-digit deficits and, more ominously, the flush of more and more budget dollars down the interest drain.

The eighth grade class of St. Mary-St. Mark School hosted an Easter party in the school cafeteria over the Easter holiday.

Fellow eighth grade students from Sacred Heart, St. Elizabeth and St. Margaret Mary schools were invited to attend the event.

The host class decorated the cafeteria with appropriate Easter motifs, some of them handmade in the art class. The guest and refreshment tables were adorned with fresh flowers and Easter eggs.

Attendance prizes and "Are you dancing" prizes were given throughout the evening as the students did the "Worm," a polka, the Bunny Hop and other dances.

Those in attendance from the host school were Jermaine Bell, Chris Burns, David Dorris, Michael Harper, Richard Jackson, Muriel Jones, Steve Mainridge, Chaucer Mason, Royce Mason, John McGee.

Also, Trisha McGhee, Joe Meehan, Katie Modrusic, Shana Moore, Angela Perkins, Bobby Simpson, Chris Smith, Stephen Spirer, Amber Thompson, Angela Tripp and Kelly Watkins.

Sacred Heart was represented by John Reagan, Theresa Skowron, Amy Nemeth, Jennifer Boyer, Karen Thompson, Eddie Cupini, Chris Mance, Ernie Walker, Chris Michaels and Nancy Miller.

St. Margaret Mary students who attended included Linda Dunbar, Denise Ray, Steph Cauble and Tiffany Miller.

Church census begins Sunday

In a combined effort, the congregations of the First Presbyterian Church of Madison, United Methodist Church of Madison and First Baptist Church of Madison are making preparations to conduct a church census of Madison on Sunday, April 13, through April 24.

A committee was formed to make preparations for the event and is being led by Naomi James. She has divided the city into five areas with a team captain assigned to each area. Each captain and the workers will be contacting residents assigned to them.

The type of information they will be asking for is the family religious preference, and whether the family attends church at the present time. The committee has obtained permission from the Madison Police Department to conduct the census.

Wilson School PTA will elect officers

GRANITE CITY — The Wilson School PTA will hold its next meeting on Tuesday, April 15, at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Nominations and election of officers to serve on next year's PTA board will be held.

The Boy Scouts will present a program and refreshments will be served by fifth grade room mothers.

A group of aspiring writers met at Belleville Area College Granite City Campus to discuss the possibility of forming a writers' club.

The discussion was led by Mar Ruth Herzon, sponsor, and Connie Duniphan, the organizer.

There was a good attendance and plans were finalized for regular monthly meetings to begin in April.

It was decided that workshop areas would be more appropriate than a classroom arrangement.

All agreed that each member should bring an article of the writer's own work for discussion to each meeting. It can be a poem, a short story, or a segment of novel or comedy, depending on the writer's interest.

The next meeting will be at th Granite City campus on April 16 at 7 p.m. in Room 205.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Presley entertained their grandson, Jimmie McNeely Jr. of St. Peters, Mo., a visitor for the Easter weekend.

Lucille Colbert and her sister Maxine Duniphan, both of Mitchell, have returned from Puxico Mo., where they visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.F. Carver.

The young people of Faith Chapel Church in Mitchell enjoyed an Easter egg hunt at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Colbert after church services Easter Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmon Crites from Dexter, Mo., former Mitchell residents, were here over the Easter weekend visiting their children, Roger, Rick and Mike Crites, all of Mitchell.

Mrs. Blanche Timmons, Chesterfield, Mo., was here during the Easter weekend visiting her son, Royce Timmons and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Kelly had as weekend guests Mr. and Mrs. Denver Payne of Springfield, Mo. Mrs. Payne is Mrs. Kelly's aunt.

The Rev. and Mrs. Clint (Pat) Brame returned Monday night from South Gate, Mich., where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Brame's sister-in-law, Mrs. Christine Simms.

Mrs. Margaret Glendenning's brother, Charles Saggio, is in the intensive care unit of the Veterans' Hospital in St. Louis.

Faith Chapel Church at the corner of Ashland and Springfield avenues, Mitchell, concluded a week-long revival Friday night. The Rev. Johnnie Gipson of Arnold, Mo., was the evangelist.

Mrs. Lucille Colbert and her sister, Mrs. Maxine Duniphan, returned Monday from Southeast Missouri, where they visited their father, W.F. Carver, a former Venice resident, in the Lucy Lee Hospital, Poplar Bluff, Mo.

Professor will discuss aging

"A Professional Biologist's Perspective on Aging" will be the featured topic of the Gerontology Colloquia Series on Thursday, April 17, in the board room of the University Center at SIUE.

The session will run from 6 p.m. until 9 p.m.

Robert Bolla, professor of biology at the University of Missouri-St. Louis, will be the featured speaker.

Don't give the I.R.S. a penny more than you have to. We are not advising you to fudge on your taxes. We are strongly urging you to take advantage of every tax shelter legally available to you.

The most obvious one is an Individual Retirement Account. With an IRA you can contribute up to $2,000 per year ($2,250 if your spouse doesn't work). These contributions are deferred from your taxable income till you take the money out at retirement age if you can't afford to contribute the maximum, you can contribute less.

IRAs are only one of many investments you can make to help you pay less taxes. Money is hard to make, don't give it away. Substantial penalty for early withdrawal.

8 pounds of cannabis found in drug bust

GRANITE CITY Another area drug bust occurred Friday with police seizing eight pounds of marijuana.

Fred R. Cook, 31, of Bunker Hill was arrested April 4 in a parking lot at 2600 Nameoki Road. He was charged with unlawful delivery of cannabis of over 500 grams, said Police Chief Bill Harris.

Members of the Granite City Police Department and the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois alleged finding 16 plastic bags of cannabis in Cook's possession.

They are also investigating the ownership of a .38-caliber revolver and a plastic vial believed to contain a controlled substance, Harris said.

Cook is being held in the Madison County jail lieu of $50,000 bond.

TWO MEN HURT IN CRASH WITH AUTO ON LINCOLN

Michael A. Ollis, 22, of 4724 Nameoki Road and his passenger, Fred M. Weber Jr., 23, of 2626 Lincoln Ave. were injured in an accident at 1:37 a.m. April 3.

Ollis was westbound on Lincoln Avenue when his auto collided with a parked car owned by Bill Lucas, pushing it about 50 feet.

Ollis left the scene on foot. He was later apprehended at his home by police and was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and reckless driving.

Weber was taken to the emergency room of St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Joel Thomas Gordon, 1101 rear Reynolds St., Madison, reported his .357 Magnum handgun, valued at $260, was stolen from the home of his mother-in-law while he was serving with the military. She was taking care of the weapon while he served from June 1984 until he returned home on April 3.

MAN FACES TWO CHARGES

Jeffery L. Smith, 19, of 2801 Wayne Ave. was charged April 6 with battery and criminal damage to property. It was alleged he struck Richard Plantz of 3140 Myrtle Ave. in the face with his fist in the 3700 block of Nameoki Road and also broke the left rear window of Plantz's car with a baseball bat.

PAINT SCRATCHED ON CAR

James Cavanaugh of 3118 Jill Ave. reported April 4 that the entire painted area of his car was scratched with a sharp object while the auto was parked in front of his home.

ITEMS TAKEN FROM VAN

Larry Beyer of 3037 Buxton Ave. said April 4 a burglar entered his van and took a toolbox with assorted tools, a battery charger, six cassette tapes and an 8-track cassette converter. Value of the missing items is $396.

CANNABIS CHARGE FILED

David L. Wallace, 26, of 2333 North St. was charged April 5 with possession of cannabis. Police allegedly finding a plastic bag in his possession and a cigarette in his car while it was parked in a lot at 3701 Nameoki Road. He was released on $32 bail.

DUIs

CHARGED AFTER ACCIDENT

ALONG EAST 23RD STREET
Reginald P. Hanson, 36, of O'Fallon was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, driving while his license is suspended and improper lane usage following an accident at 4:03 p.m. April 2.

Hanson was westbound on E. 23rd Street near August Street when he allegedly crossed into the eastbound lane and collided with a car driven by Jean Williams of 5 Tulip Ave. Hanson was released on $302 cash bail.

DUI BY MAN IS ALLEGED

Darnell Gregory, 37, of 1227 Robin St., Venice, was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and driving with an expired license when arrested April 3 at Bissell and Weaver avenues.

Venice, He also was served a Madison County warrant, alleging failure to pay a fine on a charge of driving while his license was suspended.

MAN CHARGED WITH DUI

TWO MOTORISTS INJURED
Harold E. Depp, 45, of Dewey Avenue was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and two counts of passing a stop sign after an accident at 7:28 a.m. April 3.

Depp was eastbound on Pontoon Road and Patricia Rigby, 31, of 1187 Lola St. was westbound on Pontoon and turning left onto Johnson Road.

Both drivers were injured, and Depp was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

ARREST IN PONTON BEACH

Gabriel G. Mora Sr., 36, of Fairmont City was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol April 6 by Pontoon Beach authorities. He was stopped by police at Illinois 111 and Interstate 270.

Apartment dispute results in charge

David E. Gann, 40, who had no address listed, was charged with assault April 4 when arrested at 20th Street and Washington Avenue. He posted $52 cash bail and was released.

Gann reportedly rented an apartment April 3 at 2001 Washington Ave. but moved out of the flat on April 4.

Jerald Regan, the landlord, agreed to return a $30 deposit to Gann but declined return $60, representing two weeks' rent, reports said.

Prior to the arrival of police, Regan alleged Gann lost his temper, produced an open folding knife, and made threats.

Toffant denies politics behind reassignment of three officers

Three high-ranking Madison County Sheriff's Department officers have been assigned to patrol duty by Sheriff Emil Toffant in what the sheriff describes as an effort to improve the patrol function.

Toffant denied rumors the assignments were related to the race for the Democratic nomination for sheriff in the recent primary election. The moves had nothing to do with politics, he said.

"I don't want to start any politics in the Madison County sheriff's office," the sheriff said. "We worked hard to get it out."

Maj. Robert Hertz, the department's director of operations, Capt. Robert Rizz, patrol commander, and Lt. Conrad "Pete" Baetz, in charge of the department's warrant and process division, were assigned to part-time patrol duty.

Hertz and Rizz are to work two day shifts and two night shifts on patrol each week, while Baetz will work a day shift and two night shifts weekly.

Toffant said he is considering restructuring the patrol division to better reflect changing population patterns in the county. The three officers were assigned to patrol work for three months so they can see at first hand what is needed and make recommendations, the sheriff said.

He said Hertz and Rizz were assigned because they supervise the patrol division. Baetz was assigned because of technical knowledge, Toffant said.

All three officers understood why the assignments were made, according to the sheriff.

Baetz said he does not believe the assignments were punitive. He said Toffant is interested in increasing manpower and efficiency in patrols.

Hertz could not be reached for comment and Rizz declined to comment.

Toffant will retire later this year after completing his second four-year term as sheriff. He supported Bob Churchich of Alton for the sheriff's nomination in the March Democratic primary election.

Churchich won the nomination, defeating four other candidates.

Further child car restraint education urged in Illinois

Since the Illinois Child Passenger Restraint Act took effect in 1983, the number of automobile-related deaths of children four years old and younger has dropped 50 percent.

But automobiles are still the number one cause of death among children over one year old.

Dr. Gary Gardner, a pediatrician at Hinsdale Hospital, Hinsdale said 90 percent of those deaths could have been prevented by proper use of child restraint seats.

Overall, 50 to 75 percent of car seats are used improperly, either because the parent has failed to secure the car seat to the car or has not secured the child into the car seat, he said.

Illinois hospitals offer car seat safety instruction through baby care classes, car seat classes, and specialized instruction.

A number of Illinois hospitals, such as Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines, offer car seat rental programs so that parents get into the habit of using car seats from the day their baby leaves the hospital.

In a "Buckle Up Babies" program, BroMenn HealthCare, Bloomington, Brokaw Hospital in Normal and Mennonite Hospital in Bloomington offer car seats to parents of all newborns.

Many physicians indicate on a newborn's medical chart that the child may not be released from the hospital until the mother is given instructions on the proper use of car seats.

BOOKED ON DAMAGE CHARGE

Gary W. Ely, 26, of 3206 Kirkpatrick Homes was charged April 5 with criminal damage to property and resisting arrest. He allegedly broke glass and a lamp owned by Tammy Ely of Kirkpatrick. He also was served a warrant for failing to appear on a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol.

Firearms class set by GCC

Belleville Area College will offer a three-day state-certified firearms course at the Granite City Campus, 4950 Maryville Road.

The class meets Saturday and Sunday April 12 and 13, and Saturday, April 19.

The deadline for registration is Friday, April 11.

The Firearms Training Course (SA 145) satisfies the firearms requirement for armed security guards. The course is open to all citizens and covers the safe handling, care and effective use of the handgun and shotgun. The legal use of force and shooting decision-making will be discussed.

The cost for the course is $37.50, plus a $20 lab fee.

The total cost to citizens more than age 22 is $25.

For information, calls may be made to Bill Allen, coordinator of BAC's administration of justice and security administration programs, at 274-4675, extension 265, or 235-2700, extension 265.

1983 AUTO STOLEN HERE

Marvin Stormer of 1601 28th St. reported April 6 that his company car, owned by Tropical Plant Rentals Inc. of St. Louis, was stolen from in front of his home. It is a silver-gray 1983 Ford Escort with Missouri license NAJ-063.

FIRE DAMAGES KITCHEN AREA OF MOBILE HOME

A fire did $3,000 damage April 5 to a mobile home occupied by Lloyd Brooks at the rear of 2918 Palmer Ave. The fire apparently started from a cigarette that fell into a recliner chair.

Granite City firemen said the blaze was limited to the kitchen area.

CRASH INJURES CYCLIST

Randy S. Harmon, 23, of 10 Briarcliff Drive was injured in an accident at 8:24 a.m. April 5. He was operating his motorcycle south on Nameoki Road at St. Clair Avenue when there was a collision with the westbound car of Charles Bernaix of 168 Trocadero Lane, Mitchell. Harmon was taken from the scene by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment.

Ephesians 6:13 "... Wherefore take unto you the whole armor of God, that ye may be able to withstand..."

There is no denying the fact that the Saints of God are in a battle. Satan goes about as a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour. We cannot prevent his coming, but we can resist him when he comes.

We are not defenseless. We are not at the mercy of Satan. We are more than conquerors through Jesus Christ our Lord. The one who dwells in us is greater than he who is in the world. If God be for us, who can be against us? Satan trembles at the name of Jesus and Jesus said that if we believe, we could cast out devils in His name!

Do not fail to take advantage of the weapons that God has given us. After all, it brings glory to God when His Church prevails over Satan and his works. Be strong in the Lord and power of His might. Today.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav J. (Audrey C.) Cormier, 2829 Washington Ave.

During the four-week exercise, Cormier provided helicopter support with cargo lifts, reconnaissance team inserts and extracts, night vision goggle training, live firing for gunners and multiple aircraft and mission exercises. The Marine is currently stationed with Marine Attack Helicopter Squadron 169 at Camp Pendleton, near San Diego.

Port gets Army OK on system

U.S. Rep. Melvin Price D-21st, announced Monday he has obtained written notification from the Army that the warehouse the Tri-City Regional Port District is purchasing from the Army may remain on the current fire protection system after the sale.

This agreement should save the port district about $160,000, it has been estimated.

The district has been negotiating the purchase of a large tract of land — including the warehouse — from the St. Louis Area Support Center, Granite City. The purchase could spark a major expansion of business activity at the port, officials say.

"I hope my efforts in this matter have helped," Price said. "I know the initial contacts between the port district and the Army were strained."

Price said he, too, experienced difficulty until going directly to Secretary of the Army John O. Marsh.

"Once I explained the situation to the secretary we were able to get some satisfaction. Mr. Marsh is a very reasonable man. He knew I wouldn't approach him unless the plan had merit," Price said.

The Army Engineer Corps and the Port District are still discussing a sewer line easement. The Corps reportedly favors having the route run along Illinois rather than through an area now designated for tank training.

Army recruiter assigned here

Staff Sgt. Mark A. McMurray has been designated the new station commander at the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, 3673 Nameoki Road, military authorities announced this week.

Formerly the recruiter in Belleville, McMurray is a graduate of Samuel Clemens High School in Shertz, Texas, and entered the Army in April 1977.

He and his wife, Karen Marie, make their home at St. Clair Force Base. The couple has three sons, Bobby, Dannie and Mark.

McMurray holds the Army Commendation Medal and the Army Achievement Medal, winning first place in the Scout Section Proficiency Course on two consecutive occasions.

The new local recruiter has served in Kitzingen and Buehingen, Germany, and at Fort Hood, Texas, and Fort Ord, Calif.

Young people who believe they can meet the Army's physical and aptitude standards are invited to call McMurray at 876-5560 to learn more about Army opportunities.

The recruiter has information on the new GI Bill, plus the Army's College Fund, cash bonuses, skill training and travel options, among other benefits offered by the U. S. Army today.

He also has details about a new two-year enlistment program, which enables high school graduates or those in the first or second year of college to "take a break" from school, enter the Army for two years and accumulate as much as $17,000 to complete their college education.

Hospitals fight malnutrition among elderly

Nearly half of all Americans over age 65 consume insufficient amounts of calories or nutrients such as calcium, iron, B vitamins, or vitamin C. Some researchers believe the decline in health that accompanies aging can be slowed through proper nutrition.

Illinois hospitals are combating a malnutrition problem among the elderly through educational programs. Elmhurst Memorial Hospital, for example, offers a program on weight control for the older adult, in which participants are given tips on breaking poor eating habits and ideas for high- and low-calorie cooking.

Lakeview Medical Center in Danville also addressed nutrition for the elderly during a special program for a senior citizen group. A registered dietitian from the hospital and a home economics advisor conducted the program, which included advice on balanced meal planning for one or two people and smart grocery shopping.

St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City conducts repeated nutrition information programs.

A rare feat for bowler

Mike Sues is still awaiting the final word from the American Bowling Congress.

"It should come any time," said Sues, of Granite City.

The "word" Sues is waiting for is if the ABC will sanction the double 300 he rolled earlier in the month at the Tropicana Lanes in Clayton, Mo.

"If they don't sanction it, it won't be recognized," Sues said. "But as far as I'm concerned, I don't think I will feel any different because something like that will probably happen only once in a lifetime."

The odds that someone would bowl back-to-back 300 games are about as high as those for the Pittsburgh Pirates and Cleveland Indians reaching this year's World Series.

Slim at best.

Sues, 21, was in a John Tudor-like groove earlier this month. He rolled 23 consecutive strikes spanning three games. He ended up with an 812 series after rolling a 212 in his final game.

The 812 was Sues' third best series. His others were 842 and 820. The perfect games were the third and fourth he has ever bowled.

"What was really funny about the whole thing is before you bowl they normally give you shadow (practice) balls," he said. "On those throws I just couldn't hit anything. Anywhere I threw, the ball just wouldn't move like it was supposed to."

"So when I started my first game I was really guessing, throwing inbetween spots."

But then came the X's on the scoreboard.

"I didn't want it to end since I was that close to being perfect," Sues said. "After the first game almost everybody in my league was sitting watching. Then, in the third game, it seemed like the whole place was watching me."

Sues said once the streak was broken, in the fifth frame of his third game, his main concern was the series score.

"Everybody always said if you bowl two 300 games you better bowl an 800 (series)," he said. "I was just worried about that."

A student at Granite City Campus, Sues has been bowling for about eight years. He said his 290 game was bowled approximately two years ago in a scratch league at Bowland in Granite City.

With that experience behind him, Sues was able to keep his perspective. He wanted to keep a good thing going.

"I can't exactly tell you when I noticed it, but that night I was definitely in a groove," he said. "I was hitting the right spot."

As far as memory serves, Sues' accomplishment marks the first time someone has ever bowled two perfect games in succession at Tropicana Lanes, officials there said.

Sues is a 1982 graduate of Granite City North High School. After this year he is thinking of transferring from GCC to either Wichita State or the University of Nebraska.

The American Bowling Congress' local representatives, Don Rohman and Bud Lotz, inspected the lanes at Tropicana the morning after Sues' feat to see if the dressing had been applied evenly. The ABC findings will determine if the two perfect games will be sanctioned.

A bowler applying to have a high score sanctioned must file an application to the ABC within 30 days after the score was bowled.

The ABC requires all kinds of information, including such things as the make and serial number of the ball used.

The ABC issues rings for both 300 games and 800 series.

OTHER PIN NOTES: Kevin Howard, 25, of Granite City, bowled a 899 on April 1.

Tim Hogan named to SWC cage team

By Gregg Ochoa
Executive Sports Editor

Sharp-shooting junior Tim Hogan was named to the first squad of the 1986 All-Southwestern Conference basketball team.

The all-star team, based on coaches voting, was released earlier this week.

Granite City placed all five of its starters somewhere in the balloting. Joe Gray was named to the second team while Jamie Hogan, Tom Taylor and Chris Veizer received honorable mentions.

Joining Hogan on the first team were Larry Smith of Alton (25 PPG), Sean French of Belleville West (19 PPG), Bobby Collins of Alton (15.4 PPG) and Bob Range of Collinsville (15.2 PPG).

Of the five first-teamers, only Smith is a repeater from last year and Hogan is the only underclassman.

Hogan averaged 21.8 points in Granite City's 10 Southwestern Conference games this season. His game high was 33 points against Belleville West.

On the season, Hogan averaged 19.5 points per game and shot 51 percent from the floor. He led the Warriors at the free throw line, shooting at an 81 percent clip.

Joe Gray was the only returning starter from last year's team and many felt he was the glue of this year's Warrior squad.

A three-year starter at guard, Gray averaged 12.1 PPG in the SWC this season. Overall, he scored 12.5 PPG. Gray grabbed 113 rebounds, doled out 181 assists (the highest on the team) and had 113 steals.

On the honorable mention list, Jamie Hogan averaged 13.1 PPG and had 123 assists. Taylor (13.9 PPG) had 173 rebounds. Veizer, the only other senior starter, averaged 11.4 PPG and was Granite City's leading rebounder with 219.

ALL-SWC TEAMS
FIRST TEAM: TIM HOGAN (Granite City), Larry Smith (Alton), Sean

French (Belleville West), Bobby Collins (Alton), Bob Range (Collinsville).

SECOND TEAM: JOE GRAY (Granite City), Todd Volkman (Belleville East), Norvel Ward (East St. Louis), John Barberis (Collinsville), Anthony Buckner (East St. Louis).

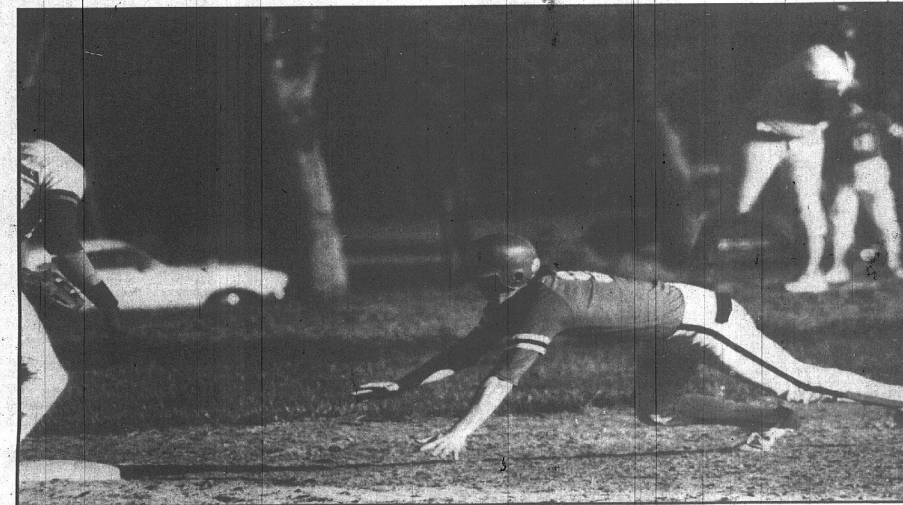

HONORABLE MENTION: JAMIE HOGAN (Granite City), TOM TAYLOR (Granite City), CHRIS VEIZER (Granite City), Tony Herd (Alton), Julyon Brown (East St. Louis).

All-Area cage team is planned

The Granite City Press-Record will publish its 1986 All-Area basketball team next week.

Ballots were sent out to area coaches and they were asked to select the Metro East's best basketball players from both Class AA and A school. The all-area team will consist of pictures and a capsule summary of the top players. First and second team and honorable mention picks will be named.

East Side stuns Warriors

Warriors helped by miscues; get first win over Flyerettes

GRANITE CITY — For once, somebody else made the errors, and the Granite City girls softball team took advantage.

The East St. Louis Flyerettes committed four errors in the first two innings Monday that led to three unearned runs as the Warriors exploded to an early 3-2 lead, then hung on for a 9-5 triumph.

It was the first win of the year for Granite City, and more importantly, it came in their first Southwestern Conference game. The Warriors are 1-4 overall and 1-0 in the SWC.

"Of course, we're tickled to win one," said Warrior Coach Jim Davis. "We're just hoping we can take this game and go forward."

Amy Moss got the win for the Warriors as she pitched the complete game. She allowed only two hits through six innings and was cruising with a 9-2 lead entering the seventh when the Flyerettes tried to rally.

Kenae Clanton walked with one out, and a wild pitch and an error put runners at first and third. Samantha Savage then singled in a run, with Marilyn Lee going to first three innings. They had two in the first, two in the second and four more in the third.

Karen Sykes coaxed a one-out walk from Hollins in the first, then Keri Holtkamp lashed a drive just past the outstretched glove of center fielder Tonetta Brown. Sykes came around to score and when Brown's throw too third was not only too late to get Holtkamp but was wild, Keri got up and came in for the second run.

The Warriors came right back in the second. Designated hitter Lisa Mills reached on an error by Lee, the third baseman. She advanced to third on two wild pitches, then scored on one of the stranger plays of the day.

With the squeeze play in order, Tracy Gaudette got the ball down, but it was fielded quickly by Chapple, the catcher. Mills was hung up between third and home, but Chapple only looked at her. By the time she threw to first, Gaudette was there and Mills then came in to score. When the Flyerettes threw the ball to the plate, Gaudette alertly took off for second, where no one was covering.

The Warriors, who had scored only seven runs in the first four games, surpassed that total in the third. Kisha Hollins followed with an RBI single to make it 9-4. Rhonda Diggs flied out to right for the second out, but Savage scored on the sacrifice fly and Hollins moved to second. Walks to Tonetta Brown and Jennifer Jenkins loaded the bases and brought the tying run to the plate, cleanup hitter Annice Chapple.

The still-wireless Warriors had to be thinking a little about throwing away a sure win, but Chapple hit the first pitch right back to Moss, who threw to first to end the game.

"I wasn't overly concerned," Davis said. "I knew if we made them put the ball in play we would come out all right. We had been playing good defense and I didn't want any more walks."

Grays following Reagan's path?

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

Around 55 years ago, Eureka (Ill.) College had a young undergraduate, athletically inclined, who went on to bigger and better things.

This is not to say Jeff Gray is going to end up in the White House someday, but the Granite City native will be playing basketball at Ronald Reagan's alma mater in the 1986-87 season.

Eureka Coach Dave Darnell announced the signing of Gray, a 6-1 guard, Tuesday. Gray averaged 16 points a game last year at Granite City Campus as he helped the Stars to a 13-16 season.

"Naturally, we don't want to lose someone like that," said

Terry Collins, GCC athletic director and basketball coach. "We were joking the other day about the three-point shot (which will be used in college basketball next season). We figured we could have won five more games with Jeff putting that shot up."

The three-point arc will be 19 feet, 9 inches from the basket, easily within range of Gray's deadly rainbow jump shot.

Gray averaged 21 points in high school and was a first team all-Southwestern Conference honoree his senior season at Granite City High School. That year (1984-85), he was also named to the all-tournament team at the Col-

THE STOPPER? Todd Worrell, the Cardinals' hard-throwing 6-5 reliever, could turn out to be the team's late-inning fireman. The California native was called "the white Lee Smith" by manager Whitey Herzog last year in reference to the Chicago Cubs' fireballing reliever. Worrell was the man covering first base when umpire Don Denkinger made his controversial call in the ninth inning of Game Six of the World Series.

Umpires hold meeting on April 17

The Granite City Park District will hold a baseball umpire's meeting Thursday, April 17 at 7 p.m. at the Harold Brown Recreation Center. All returning umpires and new umpires are urged to attend.

Worrell wants role as 'Committee Chairman'

By Greg Maracek
Staff writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — No one could have predicted the remarkable success of the now well-known "Bulldog" by Committee concept of Manager Whitey Herzog.

He got 44 of those 45 Bruce Sutter saves back in '84, out of a "no name" pen, headed by right-hander Jeff Labit with 19 saves, left-hander Ken Dayley with 11 and flame-throwing, 6-foot-5, 200-pound Todd Worrell who contributed five down the stretch.

The stats were staggering. In games where the Birds led after six innings, their record was 70-3; after seven innings with the lead the record was 83-1 and in games where the Cards led going into the ninth inning, the St. Louis record was an astounding 84-0.

But that doesn't mean the "Committee" is the preference of these pitchers in the bullpen, and it isn't to say the manager wouldn't consider a change if given the right alternative.

There's one staffer who'd like to qualify as the bullpen's Committee Chairman — a man Whitey Herzog called on as the ninth inning stopper — Worrell.

"The job I'm shooting for is to be the main stopper out of the bullpen," said Worrell. "The final decision, of course, is Whitey's, and I don't know how he's going to handle the bullpen, but I hope he knows that's my desire."

"I doubt it will be bullpen by committee this year. That was a unique situation. We had a real blend of personalities, characters, and attitudes in that bullpen that allowed the idea to work," Worrell continued.

"I think I've shown I can pitch under extreme pressure, and that I can get out of jams when the club needs to be pulled out. That's why I'm down here in spring training, to prove I should be the stopper."

Worrell wants the ball in the ninth inning, and it wouldn't be surprising if he got the chance. "If Worrell becomes a dominant guy, which he might be, I would give him the ball in the eighth and ninth innings and use a Ken Dayley a lot earlier in the ball game," Herzog said, thinking out loud.

Worrell opened last season at Louisville as a hard-throwing starter, but by the middle innings, he was losing velocity off his fast ball and being hit hard. On July 18, he was moved to the bullpen, and called up to St. Louis on Aug. 27.

As a Louisville reliever, he'd pitched in 17 games with a 3.0 record, 11 saves and an 1.91 ERA. In St. Louis he followed with a similar 3-0 mark, five saves and a 1.91 ERA. In five crucial games between Sept. 15 and Sept. 23, Worrell allowed no hits, no runs, one walk, won once and saved two. The Cardinals went 8-1 in that period, and extended their division lead from a half game to three games.

"When we made the switch to relief last July, everything took off for me," said the young right-hander. "My career just accelerated faster than I or anyone could have expected. One minute I was making the adjustment to the bullpen and a few weeks later I'm pitching in the World Series. "It was all unforgettable."

Advance Night by Granite 650

The March meeting of Granite Chapter 650, Order of the Eastern Star, was held at the Masonic Temple and the line officers were honored. Vee Throne advanced to the East and her co-workers filled the stations.

Special music by Georgia Odom and Sharon Hayden was performed for each advancing officer, including Jo Ann Noe and Kim Heblthwaite. Special guests for the evening were associate worthy grand matron of Illinois Deleane Helton, grand conductress Elaine Orr and associate grand conductress Olivia Dick. Also escorted to the East was Past Worthy Grand Patron George Wiemers. Helton spoke on "Positive Attitude."

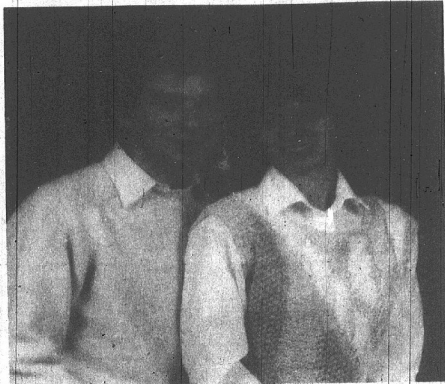

The altar was draped in memory of Georgina Waggoner, Bill Sensabaugh and John Turner. Worthy Matron Shirley Schwendemann expressed sympathy to the families of the deceased members.

Worthy Patron Jack DeCoursey thanked all who participated in giving a chicken dinner, and the worthy matron thanked all who assisted at Hulda's Corner Sales.

The dining room was decorated with doves, flowers, Noah's Ark, animals and unicorns. A salad buffet was served by Wanda MacDonough, Lois Heblthwaite, Isabel Dieckman, Dorothy Watkins and the other officers.

The Advance Night Committee headed by Betty Ebrecht was thanked by Vee Throne, who also announced that annual calendars would be distributed before April 1.

Those who were ill included Lloyd Lewis, Richard Kagy, Florence Spahr, John DeHart, Arline Fox and Karmyn Edmonds. Others assisting on committees were Mary Ann DeHart, Shirley DeCoursey, Bob Ebrecht and Missy Petras.

James Schaefer and Brandy Turner
Turner-Schaefer

Brandy Lynn Turner and James Scott Schaefer are announcing their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Turner of Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City. Turner is a 1982 graduate of Edwardsville High School and is employed at SIUE, where she is a student majoring in engineering. Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schaefer of Edwardsville. He graduated in 1981 from Edwardsville High School and is employed at Custom Trailer Repair in St. Louis.

They plan to be married on April 25.

Women's Club awards tea set

The Progressive Women's Club of Madison will be sponsoring its fourth annual awards program and tea Sunday, April 13, at 4 p.m. at the Venice Senior Citizen and Community Center, Brown and Klein streets.

The club is an affiliate of the Illinois Association of Club Women and Girls Inc. and the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs Inc.

Awards will be given to people in the community for outstanding contributions in the field of religion, business and social service, throughout the area.

Theme for the program will be "Community Involvement Through Caring and Sharing." The guest speaker will be Mrs. Bettie Smith, East St. Louis, a member of St. Paul Baptist Church, an employee of Scott Air Force Base, recording secretary of the E. St. Louis & Vicinity Council of Clubs and vice chairman of the executive board of the Illinois Association of Club Women and Girls.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Mahala Griggs. Mrs. Hilda James is co-chairman and Mrs. Frankie M. Griggs is president of the club. All are invited to attend, and the donation is $2 per person.

American Legion anniversary celebrated with Sons group

The Sons of the American Legion, Squadron 113, helped American Legion Post 113 members and the Auxiliary celebrate the organization's anniversary.

Dinner was served at 7 p.m., followed by a program at 8 that included the history and activities of the post, given by Barbara Weathers, auxiliary president.

Squadron 113 Adjutant Rodger Barks reviewed the history of the squadron, noting it was formed in 1933 and received its charter on Sept. 9, 1933. The group later disbanded and reorganized. The last time the squadron was chartered was in December 1968 and it has been active since then.

Membership has increased from 20 members to 50 and the group received a trophy from the Detachment of Illinois for the highest percentage increase in membership for six consecutive years.

Barks presented Squadron Junior Vice President Bryan Barks an award for completion of the Ten Ideas national program. The honoree is presently serving Illinois as 22nd District sergeant at arms. 24th Division sergeant at arms and Detachment of Illinois assistant sergeant at arms.

Rodger Barks also received a gift of appreciation for his service to the detachment. He is serving the 22nd District as commander, Fifth Division as senior vice commander and the state as assistant adjutant to the detachment adjutant.

After the program, a fund-raising project was held, with the proceeds to go to a trust fund for Michelle Gate, a 2 year old child who is ill.

Squadron 113 also hosted a detachment executive committee meeting, with Fred Hickem presiding.

Committee members then attended the Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307 birthday party as guests of Post Commander Benny Mangi and members.

Chapter initiates new members

Troy E. Hosty, Kelly N. McDonald and Dennis M. Meuren Jr. became members of the James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, during DeMolay Week. Lewis & Clark Chapter, Cahokia, conferred the initiatory and DeMolay degrees on four at Emeth Masonic Temple. Chris Brewer, Greg Sipes and Chad Whitford took part in the DeMolay degrees. Terry Cory and "Dad" Charles Meyer were also present.

Ralph F. McKinney Jr. became first preceptor champion at the Great Lakes Ritual Competition in Chicago March 21-23, when DeMolays from 14 states competed. A past master counselor and scribe of the chapter, he brought a first to the chapter by being named first preceptor champion at the Illinois DeMolay Ritual weekend. This gave him the opportunity to represent Illinois DeMolays in Great Lakes Ritual Competition and bring another first to the chapter by being declared first preceptor champion at the three-day event. Others attending were "Dad" Jimmy E. Stuart, executive administrator, and "Mom" Mary Stuart, administrator of Mothers Clubs for Illinois DeMolay.

District officers at VFW meet

Department President Helen Remily and Department Senior Vice Commander Ed Trembert made their official visit at a 12th District meeting hosted by VFW Post 1300 and the Auxiliary.

Saturday night included a staff meeting and dinner dance. There was judging of a "poppy hot" contest; Litchfield won, the local Auxiliary was second and Post 1300 placed third.

A film was presented by the committee on restoring the fountain in Belleville Square. Dwight Godday, Bob Fritz and Tom Schrage commented on the restoration. It will be renamed the Belleville Veterans Memorial fountain, they said.

After a Sunday luncheon, business meetings were conducted and the Auxiliary held memorial services at the conclusion.

District President Elenora Damm presided and a school of instruction was presented by Sandra Brenner on the official uniform.

Funny bunny

HOPPY MOMENT. Ten-year old Renee Biggs and her 1½ year old sister, Megan, are as BGS-cited as can be to meet the Easter Bunny, who made an early stop at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City. The girls' parents are William and Sheryl Biggs of Granite City. Inside the bunny costume is Peg McGinnis, a former nurse in the Industrial Medicine program at St. Elizabeth and now an occupational health nurse at A.O. Smith Corp.

Women's Club hosts luncheon

A pot luck luncheon was featured at the March meeting of the Namecki Women's Club, held at the Harold Brown Center and hosted by Irma Taylor and Olga McMurray.

The invocation was given by Ethel Beeler and the pledge of allegiance was recited in unison. Vice President Mary McCollum called the meeting to order. President Elsie Rodell had been hospitalized with a knee operation. Mildred Jungels reported on the district board meeting she attended in Belleville. She also read an invitation to Federation Day on June 20 at the University of Illinois at Urbana.

The next meeting will be April 16 at Harold Brown Center. There will be a program on quilts by Mrs. Marjorie Dindelman, who will bring quilts to show. Members also are invited to bring quilts to display for the day.

Members present included Delores Allen, Ethel Beeler, Blanche Blake, Mildred Branding, Bernadine Cooley, Doris Greve, Mildred Jungels, Dorothy McCollum, Mary McMurray, Millie Meek, Veda Norton, Marian Shelton, Irma Taylor and Ella Wade. A new slate of officers was presented: Delores Allen, president; Mildred Jungels, secretary; Mary McCollum, corresponding secretary; and Bernadine Cooley, treasurer.

Scouts hold bridging event

Junior Girl Scout Troop 797 and Brownie Troop 208 of Prohardt School went camping together as a "Bridging to Juniors" activity at Camp Keok in Belleville.

The girls enjoyed hiking, nature crafts, songs, new food experiences, learning how to camp and studying Girl Scouting.

Attending from Troop 708 were Melissa Cannon, Lori Cox, Holly Farnsworth, Katie Gibbs, Tiffany Gubser, JoAnn Headrick, Shawanna Presley, Pauline Suess, Heather Turner, Gretchen Wiehards and Jennifer Wise. Participating from Troop 797 were Alice Laughlin, Dawn Freeman, Donna Delay, Jennifer Simon, Lynn Novich, Jayme Duckworth, Shannon Markum, Lee Ann Novich, Stacie Ahlers, Amanda Stack, Jennifer Heater, Cindy Fisher, Michelle Hoffman, Angie Kovach and Charlene Pearman.

Leaders accompanying the girls were Pat Pearman, Barb Freeman, Kathy Suess, Linda Presley, Sharon Cox and Jacki Gubser.

Coloring contest

Chapter hosts Ethnic Night

As a cultural program on the preserving of ethnic songs, dances and traditions of European countries, members of Laureate Alpha Gamma Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, attended the performance of the Duquesne University Tambouz held at Granite City High School.

Following the entertainment, a regular meeting was held at the home of Arlene Haldeman. Many members related customs of their heritage backgrounds, with Russia, Poland, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Rumania being represented.

Officers elected for the year are President Jane Stevens, Vice President Pat Tsigolaroff, Treasurer Lora Mae Lombardi, Sorority City Council Representatives Ruth Stoyanoff, Jane Stevens and Arlene Haldeman, Recording Secretary Delores Dortch, Corresponding Secretary

Imogene Forrest and Extension Officer Delores Byrnes.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Martha Dyer in Worden on April 9. Drivers will meet at the home of Imogene Forrest at 7 to form car pools.

In keeping with the ethnic program, Arlene Haldeman served "Paska," a Russian Easter pudding, Polish poppyseed cake and "Babka," a bread containing fruit.

Attending were Delores Byrnes, Juanita Calve, Delores Dortch, Martha Dyer, Imogene Forrest, Lora Mae Lombardi, Norma Rains, Jane Stevens, Ruth Stoyanoff, Evelyn Tolliver and Pat Tsigolaroff.

Chapter elects new officers

Theta Iota Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi elected officers at a meeting hosted by Joyce Alexander last week.

Those to serve for the ensuing year are Joyce Alexander, president; Myra Polston, vice president; Sheri Shanks, recording secretary; Nancy Markey, corresponding secretary; Mary Burt, treasurer; and Susan Bury, extension chairman. Linda Koenig agreed to serve another term as chapter advisor, the president said.

Guests were Jacquie Arnold, Sharon Bettis, Patricia Clark and Jean Whitehead. Members present included Paula Koskie, Myra Polston, Nancy Markey, Susan and Mary Bury, Mrs. Koenig and a new member, Sheri Shanks.

The chapter will participate in the citywide cleanup week set for April 26-May 2 and will be coordinating efforts with other area chapters through the Sorority City Council.

Plans are being finalized for the chapter's 35th anniversary in April. The next meeting is scheduled for April 7 in the home of Paula Koskie.

Bethel hosts Parents Night

The March meeting of Job's Daughters Bethel 43, was held at the Masonic Temple with the theme of "Parents' Night." The meeting was conducted by Honored Queen Paula Bills under the direction of Mrs. Charlotte Root, Bethel guardian.

Each girl introduced her parents and presented them with a special gift.

Tickets were given to each member to sell for a spaghetti dinner set for April 5, from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, as a fund raising project.

Plans were made to attend the Lewis and Clark DeMolay sweetheart dance in Cahokia. It was also announced the girls would be forming the cross for the White Shrine installation at the temple that Tracy Rich, fourth messenger, has been chosen as Grand Representative to Australia.

Grand session to be held in Arlington Heights, Ill. April 25 through April 27 was discussed and registration taken for those planning to attend.

After the meeting refreshments were served.

At the previous meeting plans were made for the girls to serve at the Eastern Star chicken dinner. Plans were made for some of the girls to attend the Bonds for Braces and it was voted to donate $50 for the project.

Cub Pack 13 presents awards

Cub Pack 13, sponsored by St. Elizabeth School, held its annual blue and gold banquet in the school's cafeteria and gave awards to members.

Entertainment was provided by Cahokia Mounds Indian dancers.

Stephen McCall and Deborah Hillmer

Hillmer-McCall

Deborah Ann Hillmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hillmer of Granite City, and Stephen Francis McCall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anous McCall of Farmington, Mo., have announced their engagement and forthcoming marriage.

Hillmer, a 1977 Granite City high school graduate, is employed by Ralston Purina Co. of St. Louis as an accounting clerk.

Her fiancé is a 1977 graduate of Central High School of Flat River, Mo., and is employed by U.S. Tool Grinding Inc. of Desloge, Mo., as a tool and cutter grinder.

The couple is planning a Sept. 6 wedding at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Granite City.

Park gardens Five Star topic

Egbert Eads demonstrated how to start rose cuttings for the Five Star Club of Central Bank at a regular meeting held at Niedringhaus Methodist Church. Eads, who volunteers many hours working in the Wilson Park gardens, said other volunteers are needed. Anyone wishing to assist in the gardens may contact the park office at 877-4995. Future plans and improvements for the park gardens were described by Eads.

Several "egg theme" games were played and winners Geneva Brooks, Irma Taylor, Anna Michels, Carrie Hart, Lena Wood and Elsie Maylath each received a chocolate rabbit. Members Ann Riddle and Mickey Krusec received prizes.

The group sang "happy birthday" to George Vasiloff, Erna Marti, Frances Goldschick and Carrie Durrell. Emylee Alford, club coordinator, presented each with a Five Star Club zippered bag.

Bernice Crimmins, Eva Barry, Ann Riddle, Eleanor Mimick, Clara Tanase, Katherine Hincley and George Vasiloff each earned a live plant for participating. Hostesses Alford and Ethel Lerch served refreshments to the 78 members in attendance.

DUV meeting at Taylor home

Irma Taylor, president of the Daughters of Union Veterans, Tent 92, hosted the March meeting in her home.

Decorations were in keeping with the Easter holiday and the opening prayer was led by Chaplain Arline Fox. Lethia Gitchoff, patriotic instructor, led the pledge to the flag and reports were given by Enid Bolin and Louise Thompson.

Also attending were Bessie Seibold, Evelyn Ringering, Verna Michel and Peggy Gibbons. After the meeting, games were played and a special prize was awarded to Arline Fox. The next session will be hosted by Verna Michel on April 24.

Madison County Council meets

A joint meeting of Alpha E Beta Eta, and Gamma Epsilon chapters of the Madison County Coordinating Council of Delta Kappa Gamma Society International at Holiday Inn, Alto, featured Jim King, director of the Carmel Theater Group and speaker on "Legends of Southern Illinois."

He spoke on "Trouble Is A Old Eyed Mule."

A special musical dedication Lambda state music representative Mrs. H. Lowery of Alpha Eta Chapter was composed by Mrs. Valerie Stevens and sung to the group of over 100 attending.

Madison County Coordinating Council has a membership of more than 150 from the three chapters—women teachers, representing teachers in Alto, Wood River, East Alto, Roxana, Granite City, Edwardsville, Worden, Bethalto, Holiday Shores and Godfrey. The president is Mrs. Jeanette Campbell, past president of Gamma Epsilon Chapter. Officers of the Coordinating Council are the presidents of the three chapters, members, members chairman and program chairman. Presidents are: Alpha Eta, Elizabeth Briggs; Beta Eta, Dian Funkhouser; and Gamma Epsilon, Mary Ann Davis.

Membership chairmen in the same order are: Pat Moore, Dorothy Dupree and June Miller and program chairmen are: Delores Folkerts, Mary Sue Harper and Carol Rosenthal.

Delta Kappa Gamma Society International's Lambda convention will convene April 11-13 in the downtown Marriott Hotel in St. Louis.

The Downstaters, international known in Delta Kappa Gamma and made up of members of the Madison County Coordinating Council, directed by Mrs. H. Lowery, will present a segment of music for one of the programs. The group is accompanied by Valerie Stevens.

The Downstaters are Elizabeth Briggs, Sara Carpenter, Agnes Frymick, Burdine Groshong, Ila Lowery, Linda McDonnell, Dorothy Mitchell, Grace Monroe, Patty Penellon, Vivian Raffaele, Lucille Stevenson, Dianna Funkhouser, Donna Calvin, Corrine Podesva, Louise Beckee, Mary Sue Hammer, Carol Beebe, Helen Thatcher and Helen Purkale.

Seek entrants for May pageant

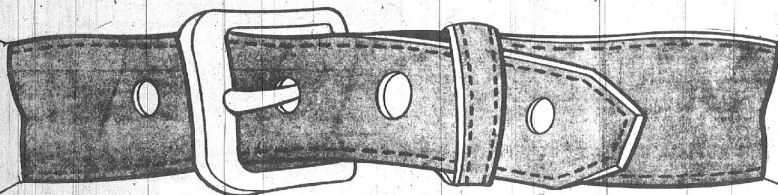

Contestants interested in participating in the third annual Little Miss Madison County pageant May 18 are advised to register no later than May 1, according to the pageant director, Sherry Bond.

A fee of $25 is required for registration and may be sent to Sherry Bond, 66 N. Lincoln Drive, Cottage Hill, Ill. 62018. For more information, those interested may call the director at 258-0428.

Girls 3 to 8 years old who reside in Madison County are eligible. Winners will receive a trophy, crown, banner and savings bond. All contestants will receive a trophy, flower and gift, the director said.

She added there will be two categories, Petite Miss for those aged 3 to 5 and Little Miss for those 6 to 8 years of age. A queen and four runners-up will be selected in each age division.

ONE ACCORD, a gospel singing family, will be in concert at the Third Baptist Church, 2601 Grand Ave., on Sunday at both the 10:40 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. services.

Gospel singing, revival at Third Baptist Church

One Accord, a gospel singing family from St. Louis, will appear in concert at Third Baptist Church, 2601 Grand Ave., on Sunday, April 13, at 10:40 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

During the 13 years they have been singing, the members have shared their testimony and music in churches throughout the U.S. They have also toured the Republic of South Africa, where they presented concerts in churches, at concert halls and in outdoor evangelistic crusades.

Appearances on both the PTL and CBS cable networks and radio presentation of songs from their six albums have made the group known to gospel music fans throughout the nation.

The members of One Accord include: John Smith, pianist and voice; John's wife, Sue, alto;

Sue's brother, Kirk, lead singer; Kirk's wife, Lisa, soprano; and the Smiths' three teenagers, Rick, Jamie and Holly, who sing bass, soprano and alto.

During their 1986 concert schedule, they will travel to the Soviet Union. Offerings received during their concerts in the U.S. are used to promote and support the group's mission work.

Third Baptist Church also is inviting the community to attend the revival services.

Services will be held at the church each night beginning at 7 p.m. April 14 through 16. There will be special music, testimonies and preaching. Pastor Jim Donahue said, "It is a good opportunity for the community to hear and to see friends and neighbors share the good news."

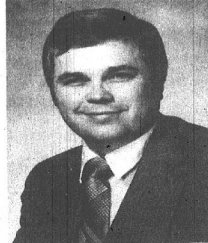

Second Baptist plans revival

Revival services will begin at Second Baptist Church, 2100 Illinois Ave., Sunday, April 13, and continue through Sunday, April 20, at 7:30 each evening.

Dr. Doug Horner, manager of the Baptist Student Center in Carbondale, will be the evangelist. He is an ordained Southern Baptist minister and has sung and preached at many revivals and concerts.

He holds degrees in guidance, counseling and educational administration. He and his wife, Harriet, have a son, Keith, and a daughter, Patricia.

Jack E. Jenkins, minister of youth and music at the Oakridge Baptist Church in St. Peters, Mo., will be the song leader for the week. Jenkins is the resident staff organist at the St. Louis Fox Theater and is touring in the St. Louis area with a program called "Remember When," presented to civic, religious and senior citizen groups. Jenkins and his wife,

Dr. Doug Horner

Melodee, live in Granite City. The Rev. Carl R. Watkins, pastor, is inviting the public to the services. Nursery care will be available.

Revivals at area Baptist churches

Fourteen million Southern Baptists are joining together at revivals to say, "Good news, America; God loves you!" Seventeen Southern Baptist churches in this area are involved.

Revival services are being held on April 7-12 at New Hope Baptist Church, April 11-16 at Third Baptist Church, April 13-17 at Emmanuel Baptist Church, April 13-18 at West 22nd Street Baptist Church, and April 13-19 at Calvary Baptist Church, all of Granite City.

Also, April 13-20 at State Park Baptist Church, April 14-18 at Bethesda Baptist Church, Granite

City, and April 14-20 at Second Baptist Church, Granite City. April 20-25 at First Baptist Church, Maryville, April 20-25 at Pontoon Baptist Church, Pontoon Beach, April 20-25 at Temple Baptist Church, Madison.

April 20-27 at Pleasant Ridge Baptist Church and April 23-27 at Meadow Heights Baptist Church, both of Collinsville.

April 24-27 at Calvary Baptist Church, Edwardsville, April 27-30 at Suburban Baptist Church, Granite City, April 27-May 2 at Grace Baptist Church, Granite City, and May 11-18 at First Baptist Church, Glen Carbon.

Kassie Anne Hodges christened at church

Kassie Anne Hodges, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Hodges Jr., was christened at St. Paul's United Church of Christ on Bluff Road, Edwardsville, by the Rev. Peggy Harris.

Sponsors for the child were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stefanoff of Mitchell.

Grandparents include Mrs. Lala Hanks of Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City, and the late Charles Hanks, and Mrs. Alice Williams and Kelly Hodges Sr. of Granite City.

After the ceremony, the congregation hosted a reception in the fellowship hall. A buffet was also held at Rusty's Restaurant later in the evening.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Gary St. Ivany and Amanda, Mr. and Mrs. Burt St. Ivany of Belle, Mo., and Mrs. Dorothy Jane of Lynn, Mo. Attend-

Wm. Breidenbach marks 90th year

William C. Breidenbach celebrated his 90th birthday at a meeting of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees (NARFE).

Orville Hommert introduced the honoree as a decorated cake was brought into the room. Breidenbach will also observe his 25th year of retirement this year. He formerly worked at the Granite City Post Office.

Lawrence Henghold, chapter president, presided, with Thara Erney giving the invocation, and all repeated the pledge of allegiance.

Guest speaker Emylee Alford, coordinator of the Five Star Club at Central Bank, spoke of services, discounts, trips and tours open to these over 60 years of age through the club.

Harry McClintock gave a legislative report discussing a health insurance carrier refund and a cost-of-living allowance which is yet to be heard by a three-judge panel. He also discussed changes in retirement for current federal employees.

Gene Ross, president of the board of directors of the GCAD Credit Union, said membership has been extended to retired federal employees residing in the general area.

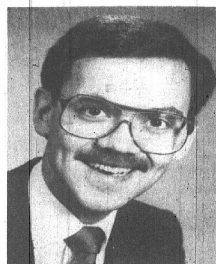

A past president's pin was awarded to Gerald Walters and Alex Duccini was chosen to attend the state convention of the organization.

The next meeting is set for April 14 at 11:30 a.m. at Charlie's Restaurant.

Former residents parents of 2nd child

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph (Brenda Wood) Millikin of Maryville, formerly of Granite City, became the parents of their second child, a boy, March 20 at Oliver C. Anderson Hospital in Maryville.

He has been named Mark Scott and he weighed seven pounds, one-half ounce. He has a three-year-old brother, Brian Joseph. Grandparents are Carl and Shirley Millikin and Theodore and Olive Wood, all of Granite City.

Speaker

BRIAN HANSON will be in concert on Sunday, April 13, at 8 p.m. at the First Church of the Nazarene, 4701 Highway 111. Host pastor, the Rev. William Roddy, is extending an invitation to the public to attend.

Bethesda Baptist plans programs

The gospel singing group "The Brashears Family" from Russellville, Ark., will be at Bethesda Baptist Church, 3035 Nameoki Drive, Sunday, April 13, at 12 p.m.

The Brashears have a name that is not new to gospel music. For the past 14 years, they have dedicated themselves to traveling and ministering on a full-time basis.

Jerrel Brashear, manager, emcee and lead vocalist for the group, has had over 25 years of experience in the gospel music field. His wife, Janice, plays piano and writes many of the songs the group sings.

The three other members are Gary O'Neal, who plays the bass guitar, Jimmy Halcumb, drums, and Angela Brashear, who sings and plays the piano.

The Rev. Luther Abbott, pastor of the host church, invites the public to hear this group of gospel singers.

The church will be participating in simultaneous revivals taking place in Southern Baptist churches on Illinois in April.

Revival services will begin at Bethesda on April 14 and go through April 18 at 7 o'clock night. Evangelist Leason Harvey will be the speaker. He is from Lake City, Ark. Leading the music for the revival will be Gary Wigger of Second Baptist Church.

Granite City BPW plans Public Relations Night

Jo Ann Moore, executive vice president of Gary Whiteaker Associates Inc., will be the featured speaker at the annual Public Relations Night of the Granite City Business and Professional Women.

Pauline Weir, public relations chairman for the organization, announced the event will be on Wednesday, April 16, at Charlie's Restaurant at 6:30 p.m. Reservations may be made with Weir at 452-7529 or Becky Slate at 452-5391 after 4 p.m.

The event will coincide with the 6th anniversary of the group and an awards ceremony, the chairman said.

Moore will speak on "The Contemporary Role of Women in Public Relations."

She began her 20-year career in advertising and marketing as a sales secretary for WIL-AM-FM radio and progressed to her present capacity as an entrepreneur in what she regards as "a multifaceted and demanding business."

Gary Whiteaker Associates Inc., Belleville, describes itself as the only full-service advertising, marketing and public relations agency in the Metro East area.

Jo Ann Moore

An induction of new BPW members will be conducted by Rose Stern, membership chairman. Slate, president of the organization, will preside.

Granite City BPW renames Becky Slate

Becky Slate was re-elected president of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Organization at a dinner meeting held at Charlie's Restaurant.

Other officers for the 1986-87 year include Lisa Fanning, first vice president, Kathleen Clark, second vice president, and Sandra Ashcraft, recording secretary.

Slate has been an active member of BPW for 22 years and under her leadership the organization received the Club of the Year award and several other awards in District XIV.

She also has served as second vice president, treasurer for five years and chairman of various committees.

The president has been employed since 1974 as director of Volunteer Service at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Prior to that time, she worked for the federal government for 30 years, retiring in 1973.

Slate is an active member of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church and for 16 years has been on a board of directors at the Granite City Army Depot. She also is a member of the Granite City Scholarship Committee, Order of the Eastern Star, Daughters of the Nile, Hospice of Madison County and St. Elizabeth Medical Center Auxiliary.

She and her husband, Irvin Slate Sr., are the parents of two sons, Irvin Slate Jr., a Granite City attorney, and Dennis Slate of Jacksonville, Fla.

In other business, Hazel Rollins was elected to a three-year term on the scholarship committee, and delegates and representatives for the BPW state convention scheduled April 25-27 in Chicago were named.

They include Lorette Sankula, Rose Stern, Rollins, Lisa Fanning, Sylvia Wright, Lil Marzluft, Jeanne Hornberger and Carol Buehler. Slate and Annellen Smith will serve as delegates.

Appointed to serve on the audit committee were Van Stuart, Ramona Burnett and Louise Smith and nominating committee members will be Rollins, Stern and Florence Moore.

The installation will be at Charlie's Restaurant on May 28 at 7 p.m., with past presidents in charge of the program.

Former residents name girl Tara Sue

Mr. and Mrs. Bill (Annette) Williamson, 125 Sumner Blvd., Collinsville, are announcing the birth of a daughter on March 22 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. The infant has been named Tara Sue and she weighed 7 pounds, 13 ounces.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Holeyfield, Granite City, and Erma Schleicher of Collinsville.

They also have three other children, Denise Halley of DeSoto, Ill., Robert Parks, serving in the U.S. Navy, and Bill E. Williamson of Glen Carbon.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED

Attorney At Law

What should you do if another driver collides with your car and he does not have auto insurance? It is estimated that thirty-five percent of the drivers in metro east do not have auto insurance. If there is damage to your vehicle but no personal injuries as a result of an accident, the most desirable option would be to have the uninsured driver reimburse you directly for your property damage. What should you do, however, if he refuses to cooperate?

You always have the option of submitting a claim under your own insurance policy in this situation. This may result in an increase in your insurance rates. In addition, if your own company pays for your property damage, you will be out-of-pocket on the deductible.

In one recent case, a nineteen year old girl was sitting at a stop sign when her car was rear-ended by an uninsured driver. She was not injured in the accident, but her car was damaged. The driver who was at fault refused to cooperate with the teenager in paying for the damage to her automobile. The young girl eventually submitted the claim under her own policy, but she was out-of-pocket $200, which was the amount of her deductible.

Her first course of action in this case would be to file an accident report with the Department of Transportation. If a determination is made that the other driver is uninsured and if there is a reasonable possibility that he was at fault in the accident, his driver's license will be suspended by the Secretary of State. The only way the uninsured driver can avoid this suspension is by entering into an agreement to pay back the damages sustained in the accident.

The young driver in our example also has the option of taking the uninsured driver to small claims court. She may want to file this case herself since the cost of an attorney would probably be prohibitive if she is only attempting to recover her $200 deductible. One problem in cases of this nature is that the party without fault may spend a great deal of time and money in pursuing a driver with no assets. It may be impossible to collect from an uninsured driver who had no auto insurance in the first place because of an inability to pay the premium.

Under-Staircase storage offers alternative to crowded closets

A common problem for growing families is "clutter" - no place to store all the household items that have accumulated over the years. Today's smaller homes in particular often lack convenient, easily accessible storage. One relatively ineffective solution is to stuff the closets full. A better idea is to make more efficient use of existing space.

Many homes with a second floor or basement can adapt the area under a staircase for storage.

Constructing a staircase storage area is relatively easy and cheap. It also is quite convenient. Build the framework for a staircase closet out of standard 2-inch-by-4-inch western lumber. Built-in shelves, as well as the pull-out units shown in the drawing, are easily constructed from standard 1-inch boards. You may want to choose a species, grade and finish that will blend with your decor. You can use any size boards you want - depending upon the style or appearance you want to achieve.

The ideas shown here are just a beginning. As with all successful home improvement projects, planning and imagination go a long way. So begin your project by sketching out a few ideas. Think about what you want to store under the staircase. Then take your ideas to your local building materials retailer. Western boards come in a variety of species and appearance grades. The retailer can help you select the proper grade and finish to coordinate with your house's interior.

The pull-out toy bin in the drawing is framed in 2-by-2-inch lumber and clad with 1-by-4-inch boards. For a more formal look, clad the toy bin with a few pieces of real wood paneling. Painted or stained to match other paneling in the room, the pull-out bin becomes an accent piece. Add a top cover made from the same board paneling and you have a perfect low table that can be stored away when it's not needed.

The drawers shown are made from 1-by-6-inch boards. Deeper drawers can be made by using wider boards. A slot cut in the face board acts as a drawer pull. The pull-out case on the end is built with a 1-by-12-inch board frame, two boards deep, held together by 2-by-2's, which in turn double as shelf supports. A pull-out case built in a single board width makes an excellent portable bookcase.

For more information about home storage ideas, write to the Western Wood Products Association, Dept. H1-2, 1500 Yeon Building, Portland, Ore. 97204.

Under-stairs storage closet is framed with standard dimension western lumber. Shelves, drawers and pull-out units are easily built from solid, sawn 1-inch boards, 1 by 4 through 1 by 12 inches.

Air shield expands bay window line

Air Shield Inc., an Andersen replacement window dealer, has expanded its offerings of Andersen Perma-Shield bay and bow windows to provide a custom fit for almost any window opening. "We've taken all the Andersen stock components and catalogued more than 640 sizes. This allows us to offer the consumer a quality Andersen bay window - constructed entirely of standard components, eliminating the need for extensive renovation of the opening or costly custom-made parts," said Steve McHugh, president of Air Shield.

"Bay windows not only enhance the appearance and livability of a home, but can be energy-savers as well - especially when replacing old, single-glazed windows. All Andersen Bays have insulated glass and are now available with a high-performance glass that increases the efficiency of dual glazing by over 25 percent," McHugh said.

What is a REALTOR®?

The terms REALTOR®, REALTORS®, and REALTOR ASSOCIATE® and the accompanying block "R" symbol are registered collective membership marks that identify and may only be used by real estate professionals who are members of the National Association of Realtors®. Membership in the National Association, and the consequent privilege to use one or more of these marks, is available only to real estate professionals who are willing to be bound by the National Association's strict Code of Ethics. That Code of Ethics was designed to protect sellers as well as buyers and to encourage cooperation among real estate professionals in promoting buyers and sellers together.

By selecting a broker who is a REALTOR®, buyers and sellers avail themselves of helpful mortgage and market information. The National Association of Realtors® is comprised of more than 650,000 concerned real estate professionals, active in civic affairs in their communities throughout the nation. They also monitor and assist in the legislative process, and represent the interests of property owners in the fight to preserve private property rights. REALTORS® are not just members of the National Association; they are valuable contributors to your community.

Glik's appoints manager, buyer

Steve Harris

Joe Glik, president of the Glik Company, has announced the appointment of Steve Harris as shoe manager and buyer of the shoe department at the Glik's store in downtown Collinsville, 101 E. Main St.

Harris graduated from Centralia High School in 1981 and participated in on-the-job management training as an employee of Kinney Shoes for three and a half years, receiving 40 outstanding sales awards.

The independent, family-owned Glik Co. operates 16 Glik's, Glik's for Guys and Glik's Ltd. stores including the recent opening of a Glik's Ltd. store in Springfield, Ill. Also planned is the late April opening of a Glik's Ltd. in the St. Louis Galleria.

Rock of St. Louis rolls to new locale

ST. LOUIS — The "rock of St. Louis" is rolling to a new location, but not without controversy.

KSHE-95 FM radio station plans to exit the Crestwood location to enter the former post office annex at Union Station in June.

The Crestwood location is overcrowded, said John Beck, vice president and general manager of the rock music station.

"We are 30 people very tightly squeezed into two buildings that closely resemble trailers," Beck said.

The move reportedly has nothing to do with animosity between Crestwood city officials and the station's "morning zoo" disc jockey, J.C. Corcoran, who has blasted the officials on the air.

Known for his outspoken manner and off-color humor, Corcoran criticized Crestwood officials for not allowing the station to place a sign on station property at 9434 Watson Road.

Crestwood Mayor Pat Killoran has a different opinion.

"They inquired about a sign six to seven months ago and were told how to go about it," she said. "But they haven't done that yet."

The sign issue is a non-issue created by Corcoran, Beck said.

"That's just something J.C. dreamed up," Bevers said.

Station management intended to move and didn't need a sign, Beck said.

Drug, alcohol center will be dedicated

In an effort to expand its services to meet the health care needs of local areas, St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City, in cooperation with St. John's Mercy Medical Center, St. Louis, will officially dedicate a new 40-bed regional drug and alcohol treatment center on Sunday, April 13, from 1 to 3 p.m.

The public is being invited to attend and to tour the newly-built center.

The Edgewood-Edwardsville chemical dependency unit, located on Illinois 157 near the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville campus, is a free-standing treatment center providing patients with anonymity and a non-hospital atmosphere.

To be sure the medical facility built in Edwardsville would be consistent with the needs of the community, SEMC enlisted the aid of a committee comprised of Edwardsville business and professional people, whose recommendations led to the construction of this $4 million treatment center.

Construction began in December 1984 and was seen as an expansion of the 20-bed Talbot Hall chemical dependency program, which had outgrown its Granite City facilities.

SEMC asked St. John's Mercy to provide management for the unit because administrators from both medical centers felt their programs shared the same philosophy.

By combining the knowledge and skills of the two centers, a regional center has been created, which will benefit communities on both sides of the river, a spokesman said.
